PROTEST ON CUT IN PARKING BAYS

BY JAMES FISHER

A PETITION has been launched against 'flawed, dangerous and impractical' plans to reduce the number of disabled parking spaces available outside Cannock Chase Hospital.

Staffordshire County Council intends to change the 30mph speed limit to 20mph along part of Brunswick Road and all of Chenet Way.

As a result, a number of disabled spaces will be axed. Vincent Daubney, who is campaigning against the changes, said a better solution would be to make the road one-way.

The council says the changes were proposed following concerns about on-street parking and the increased traffic flow as a result of 'increased patient service activity' at the hospital.

Cannock Chase Hospital

Mr Daubney said: "We would like the council to consider rejecting the current proposal to reduce disabled parking for disabled Cannock Hospital users and create drop-off points with the remaining space.

"It is flawed, dangerous and impractical. As carers and disabled citizens we are totally against reduced services or facilities for disabled people. Perhaps a better solution would be to make Brunswick Road a one-way system from the hospital exit north to Hamelin Street.

"This would probably solve most of the traffic and safety problems. The disabled parking spaces could remain as at present and would be a much safer environment for disabled people and their carers."

The council says the scheme will include 'significant changes' to disabled bays along part of the road.

The proposal is to change the 30mph limit to 20mph for all of Chenet Way and from Beecroft Road to just past Chenet Way along Brunswick Road.

The council says the aim is to 'influence traffic speeds, provide safer vehicle passage by reducing the extent of on-street parking and install pedestrian friendly crossing facilities which will bring about an improvement in road safety for all road users'.

Labour's Alison Spicer, who represents Cannock Town Centre on the county council, is also campaigning against the scheme amid concern that the changes will leave disabled people at a disadvantage.

The petition, which can be found on the county council's website, will remain online for people to sign until April 30.

FRIENDS READY TO GIVE IT A MUDDY GOOD GO

Jodie Evans and Natasha Walker from Cannock are busy training for a mud run to raise money for MIND

TWO old friends are set to push themselves to the limit for charity in a challenge that might get messy.

Jodie Evans and Natasha Walker from Cannock are in training for the annual Tough Mudder Midlands event at Belvoir Castle in Leicestershire on May 14. They decided to take part in the five-mile half marathon obstacle course challenge after pledging that they would 'do something extreme' in 2016.

The pair then chose mental health charity MIND as the benefactors of their efforts.

Natasha, 23, said: "Me and Jodie have been friends since secondary school. We went to university together and we have done a lot together over that time. However, we haven't took on a challenge like this before.

"It came out of nowhere really, we just decided that this year we wanted to try something different. That led to wanting to try something extreme and the Tough Mudder event jumped out at us. MIND is very close to my heart so I am pleased that Jodie agreed to give any money we raise to them."

The 16,000-acre setting of Belvoir Castle promises more dark woodlands, large water bodies and more mud for contestants to tackle than ever before.

The first Tough Mudder challenge was held in the United States in 2010 and to date, more than two million people worldwide have participated in Tough Mudder events.

Jodie and Natasha have so far raised £192 of a £300 target on Just Giving and have organised a charity concert to be held tomorrow at Bridgtown Social Club, Walsall Road, featuring local band The Undercovers.

DEFENCES

Autumn start for £2m flood work

WORK on £2 million flood defences to protect hundreds of Rugeley homes and businesses will start in the autumn.

The scheme involves building a 1,082ft long and 9ft high embankment along Western Springs Road to safeguard properties.

The Environment Agency estimates that a severe flood could cause £6m damage in the town, on top of transport disruption due to the closure of the A51 and the bus and fire stations being put at risk.

The cost would be met by £750,000 from the Local Growth Fund and the remainder from the Environment Agency.

CLUB

Floral treat will be on a global scale

CHESLYN Hay and Great Wyrley Flower Club are today presenting a demonstration by Kay Higgins titled 'Around the World in Eighty Minutes'.

The demonstration at the Salem Church Hall in Cheslyn Hay starts at 7.30pm. Admission is £6.50 to include refreshments, and the event is open to non-members.

For further information, call 01922 413782/477928 or go to the website at Cheslynhayandgreatwyrleyflowerclub.wordpress.com

DEVELOPMENT

Firm updates its 100 homes plan

UPDATED plans to build more than 100 homes in Cannock have been lodged.

Project AML Ltd wants to build 111 homes and a pub/restaurant on land off the junction of Lakeside Boulevard and Walkmill Lane in Bridgtown.

The plans were given permission to go ahead in April 2015 despite concerns over its proximity to a nearby hazardous waste plant.

The developer has now submitted a reserved matters planning application to Cannock Chase Council for a decision to be made on access, landscaping, appearance and layout.

Ian is voted Arriva's best bus driver

Ian Astbury – 'excellence'

ARRIVA passengers in the West Midlands region have voted Cannock bus driver Ian Astbury as the best on the road.

As part of its company-wide recognition scheme, Arriva invited its passengers to nominate who they thought were the real champions of their commute.

Now Ian, who drives on routes throughout Cannock, has been named as the person whose dedication to their duties has most stood out among bus users in the region.

He will now have his achievement celebrated alongside five other drivers from across the UK, as part of Arriva's annual Made a Difference awards on April 21 when the overall national champion will be announced.

Delighted

Cora Robinson, from Arriva Midlands & Shires, said: "Our drivers play such an important role within the communities they are part of, and the commitment with which they go about their daily business can sometimes be overlooked.

"We wanted to give those customers who have experienced truly exemplary customer service from one of our drivers the opportunity to say 'thank you', and we have been absolutely delighted by just how many chose to do so.

"Ian is a fabulous example of someone who strives for excellence in everything they do, and they more than deserve to have this very public pat on the back."

Arriva's Made a Difference Awards are a national recognition programme which looks at all elements of the bus company, including engineering, depot management and back office functions.

£220k grant cuts 'will put the poor in gutter'

FUNDING cuts of £220,000 for vulnerable people in Cannock Chase have been criticised by the area's district council.

A total of £222,000 funding from the Supporting People grant will be pulled by Staffordshire County Council at the end of the month, in a move one councillor compared to 'pushing people into the gutter'.

Support for young families and socially excluded groups, among others, will be affected in the cuts, which follow £300,000 worth of withdrawals in 2014-15.

Discussing the decision at a Cannock Chase District Council meeting, Councillor Muriel Davis said: "It is frightening to think how bad this situation is going to become in the not too distant future.

"The next twelve months are going to be incredibly difficult for some of our most vulnerable people, and that is when we will still have some money. These people need help, and just because they don't have money, are homeless or whatever, they are still people. This move feels like they are being pushed into the gutter."

Families

The withdrawal of the funding for the Cannock Chase-based services is part of a county council review of services formerly funded via the historic Supporting People grant. As an outcome of the review, the county council decided to withdraw hundreds of thousands of pounds in two stages.

In 2014-15 it withdrew £300,000 of funding, with a further £222,000 now set to be withdrawn this month.

Bromford Housing Association is losing £110,949 of funding – £96,196 goes towards 'floating support for socially excluded groups', while the remaining £14,753 is for a 'young families supported housing scheme' in Heath Hayes. Aelfgar House in Rugeley is also losing funding, with £110,985 being withdrawn from YMCA Wolverhampton which runs the service.

Cannock Chase Council's housing boss Frank Allen also spoke out against the cuts at the meeting. He said: "Someone has got to intervene here and say 'No, we should be providing more support'." The plans will be discussed for a final time at a county council meeting next month.

Marathon men backed by Ken

TWO brothers from Cannock are tickled to have the support of veteran comedian Ken Dodd as they step up their fundraising efforts ahead of next month's London Marathon.

Tom and Jack Kay, aged 27 and 24 respectively, both work for Cannock-based Newlife Foundation for Disabled Children and have set themselves the challenge of raising a combined £5,000 for the charity.

The brothers have been holding end-of-show collections at Cannock's Prince of Wales Theatre and have won the support of stars like Ken Dodd – he donated money and signed items for raffle – and M People singer Heather Small.

Tom Kay, Newlife development manager, said: "We have already got around £3,000 and a fundraising event we are holding a couple of weeks before the London Marathon is likely to raise another £1,000.

"We have a few local companies on board so far, but we are hoping that other generous businesses and individuals will come forward to help us cross our fundraising finishing line of £5,000. Jack and I have both done a bit of running but we are not part of a running club or anything like that.

"We have both found the training quite challenging – but we are looking forward to the atmosphere of the London Marathon.

Tom and Jack will take part in the marathon on Sunday, April 24. Anyone wanting to support them can go to Justgiving.com/kaybros

Technology rolled out to Specials in summer

SPECIAL Constables in the Cannock Chase district will be among the latest to get new mobile technology introduced by the Police & Crime Commissioner.

All frontline police officers and PCSOs across Staffordshire have been equipped with new smartphone and tablet devices. This will make them more visible to local people by stopping them having to return to stations to complete paperwork, submit reports or statements, and access files.

Some 100 Specials will also receive the new technology by the end of the summer.

Police & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis said: "Special Constables make a massive contribution to society and provide a crucial additional link between the police and local communities.

"I want to make sure Specials have the right tools for the job as they serve alongside their regular colleagues.

"This is about getting officers out into the community – more visible and more available. This new technology means all officers can spend less time on admin in a police station and more time in the communities they serve."

Simon Anderson, Chief Officer for Staffordshire Special Constabulary, welcomed the roll-out of mobile technology to a further 100 Specials, which will begin in April.

He said: "One hundred Specials will get mobile devices and training from April onwards which means that they will be able to respond to communities' needs in a more productive manner."

Trip set to retrace troops' footsteps

THOSE with an interest in history are being invited to see key areas in Normandy that Staffordshire men fought to liberate.

Members of the Staffordshire Yeomanry were heavily involved in the Battle of Caen and the advance on the River Seine in 1944.

It was one of the few tank regiments to land on Sword Beach in the British Sector. Now an historical research group will retrace those first steps into France as a tribute to the people who contributed so much to the final push against the Nazis.

The trip, from July 27 to 31, is being run by Battlefield Memorial Tours.

For further information, visit www.battlefieldmemorialtours.co.uk or contact Brian Long on 01629 650780.

That'll be the day for Holly tribute

A BUDDY Holly tribute show will be at Stafford Gatehouse Theatre on May 15 as part of Stafford Music Festival.

Buddy Holly and The Cricketers, which has travelled worldwide, will play some of the rock and roll star's most famous hits including That'll Be The Day.

Ex-officer joins race to become county PCC

RETIRED police officer Natalie Devaney has put her name forward in the race to become Staffordshire's new Police and Crime Commissioner.

The 53-year-old is standing as an independent candidate in the May 5 election. She joined Staffordshire Police in 1985 and has served across the county.

She said: "Few people outside the police know what the Police and Crime Commissioner actually does.

Natalie Devaney

"This is after three-and-half years with a person in post, yet you are the voice of the people.

"At the end of the day you need to know about policing to be able to police effectively and it is important to me that the role of the Police and Crime Commissioner is accountable to the communities of Staffordshire."

She retired from the police in July last year and she wants to raise the profile of the Commissioner's role.

She said: "I am not tied to the rulings of any political party, believing in the oath of impartiality that politics should be kept out of policing."

The other prospective candidates are Matthew Ellis for the Conservatives, George Adamson for Labour, and Paul Woodhead for the Greens.

The last date for registering to vote in the election is April 18.

Plea to MPs over cutting fuel bills

LOCAL MPs are being urged to support a campaign to help the growing number of people in Staffordshire struggling with their fuel bills.

OFTEC, which represents the oil heating industry, has written to MPs calling on them to put forward simple, affordable measures to help households cut energy costs.

The letter highlights how more people living in Staffordshire are likely to suffer fuel poverty, as rural homes are typically older and harder to heat, and suggests introducing a boiler scrappage scheme.

Such an initiative could help the 12,000 households in Staffordshire who rely on heating oil reduce both fuel consumption and CO2 emissions by up to 23 per cent.

Farmers to put on fundraising disco

MEMBERS from 10 Staffordshire Young Farmers Clubs will attend a fundraising disco on Saturday.

The event, the first of several events planned for the year, will be hosted by J.A Bloor Agricultural Services Ltd.

Young people to aim for sports title

Jack Meek

CANNOCK Shopping Centre is urging young people to enter its new Most Improved Young Sportsperson competition.

The competition aims to reward youngsters in the local area who have a passion for a particular sport.

Local residents, schools and sports and community groups in Cannock and surrounding areas are being urged to nominate someone they think deserves recognition for the improvement they have made in their chosen sport.

The closing date is May 2 and the winner must be available for a photo call and presentation at Cannock Shopping Centre to receive their award and prizes that week.

All nominations must be submitted to cannocksc@pmwcom.co.uk or post to PMW Communications Ltd, Stane Court, Stane Street Billingshurst, West Sussex, RH14 9HP

Meanwhile, the centre has announced the winner of its Design your Own Easter Egg competition is five-year-old Jack Meek of Cannock.

He was rewarded with prizes which included a scooter, a board game, an arts pack and a collection of sports equipment.

And a new name for the centre's Easter bunny has been revealed after visitors were invited to enter a competition to win the cuddly toy.

Yvonne Palmer, from Cannock, has been announced as the winner thanks to her suggested name – Ivor Goneshopping – which she chose because she thought it was perfect for a shopping centre bunny.

Ivor will now go to its new home where she will be loved and cared for by the Palmer family.

Employee stole £11k to control his debts

A WORKER from Rugeley stole more than £11,000 intended to be used for advertising the company where he worked, in a bid to wipe out his debts, a court heard.

Paul Hackett, aged 28, of Landor Crescent, worked as a management accountant for Steel Service Centre, a laser cutting company based in Hixon, where he re-diverted funds from the firm's PayPal account into his own.

The money – £11,273 in total – was intended to be used to place adverts in trade magazines, but Cannock Magistrates Court heard that Hackett, who pleaded guilty to one charge of theft by employee, used the money to try to take control of his personal finances.

Hackett had debts up to £35,000 and was also in trouble with pay-day loans, so he took payments ranging from £103 to £895 from the PayPal account between October 20, 2015 and March 9, 2016 in a bid to resolve his situation.

The company was unaware until a discussion about the PayPal account at a board meeting, before Hackett admitted he had been stealing.

Accounts

Mr Adam Warner, prosecuting, said: "Mr Hackett acted in a way that is not expected from someone with the financial responsibility he was given. There is very little in the way of sophistication in what he did, and he didn't attempt to cover his tracks.

"He had been working for the company for six years, looking after accounts, and was described as a decent employee.

"It has been said that for the company to make the £11,000 that was taken, they would have to sell £110,000 worth of goods."

The money has since been paid back into the company's account by Hackett's father.

Steel Service Centre, also known as SSC Laser, is one of the largest sub-contract laser job shops in the UK, employing 70 people at six sites including its head office at Hixon.

Mr Paul Lamb, defending, said: "I understand that he had been taking the money because of his personal financial difficulties and his intention was to repay the money back in full without discovery."

Chief magistrate Keith McQuillen sent the case to Stafford Crown Court for sentencing. He said: " you were in a position of trust."

Steel Service Centre declined to comment about the court case.

Visitor services officer Rachel Gentle takes a look at the JRR Tolkien exhibition, which includes the author as a signals officer

Tolkien display pulls in visitors

AN exhibition celebrating the life of JRR Tolkien is pulling in the visitors at the Museum of Cannock Chase.

The author behind classics including The Lord of the Rings and The Hobbit and his links with Staffordshire are being explored at the museum.

Curated by The Haywood Society, it celebrates the influence of Staffordshire on his early writings and the development of his vision of Middle-earth.

Tolkien lived with his wife in Great Haywood in 1916 during the First World War. He was also trained at army camps on Cannock Chase between 1915 and 1918.

The exhibition launched last month and will run until April 24. Staff at the museum have said the display has had a fantastic response from the public since it opened.

Museum manager Nicola Bannister said: "People have been travelling from out of the area to view the exhibition, which is always good."

For more details visit the museum's website at www.museumofcannockchase.org or call 01543 877666.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Hundreds enter design contest

AN Easter card design competition in Cheslyn Hay attracted more than 600 entries from six primary schools.

A spokesman for the Cedar Tree Christian Drop-in Centre in Low Street, which organised the competition, said they were thrilled with the response.

Winners in Key Stage 1 and Key Stage 2 in each school were awarded an Easter Egg and a pack of five cards featuring their own design, with the overall winners in each Key Stage receiving a special edition of the egg and a pack of 10 cards.

Pupils in swim for expedition

PUPILS at Cardinal Griffin Catholic College in Cannock are today taking part in a swimming challenge to raise funds to help pay for an overseas trip.

They are attempting to swim a half marathon between them, while using snorkels, at Cannock Chase Leisure Centre.

The youngsters are fundraising to go on a voluntary expedition to Ecuador this summer, and today's event will raise money for the transport to and from the airport for the trip.

Delays after crashes close lanes on M6

DRIVERS faced delays of more than 30 minutes on the M6 northbound after a series of crashes left lanes closed.

Two lanes were closed between junctions 12 and 13. West Midlands Ambulance Service confirmed one woman was taken to hospital after the crash at 11.40am last Wednesday.

The service also attended a second incident on the northbound carriageway at the junction 12 slip road.

Four patients were assessed but none required hospital treatment.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

MORE things misheard in youth. A reader who did her teaching practice 40 years ago at an infant school in a road called Beehive Lane recalls the discovery that some of the little kids didn't know the Lord's Prayer. They were found to be chanting: "Our Father which art in Heaven, Hello Beehive Lane."

WITH less than three months to go to the EU referendum, I wonder how long it will be before somebody in Whitehall or Brussels tells us that, under some tiny and well-hidden sub-section of EU law, the result of our voting will be advisory rather than mandatory? Just a hunch . . .

BRILLIANT locations, fabulous lighting, useless plot based on improbably Freudian cobblers. Maigret (ITV), starring Rowan Atkinson, would have been greatly improved by putting Inspecteur Bean on case.

THERE is nothing in the 2015 Conservative Manifesto about converting all primary schools into academies. The closest it gets is the pledge to "Turn every failing or coasting secondary school into an academy." Jeremy Corbyn hasn't exactly set the nation alight with his choice of policies so far but in fighting this imposition of power from the top-down, he may be on to a winner. It is a simple matter of honesty. If it isn't in the manifesto, it shouldn't be on the agenda.

NATIONAL treasure John Humphrys says he cannot understand people indulging in the "idiocies" of Twitter and Facebook. Come off it, John. Social-media junkies simply want to be like you. They want to be famous. They want to impress their "friends" and "followers," even though they go days on end without a single viewing. Saddest of all are not the kids but those middle-aged underachievers who are desperate to show off their intellectual prowess. I know one who publishes a list online of all the books he has read. Don't scoff, John. Show some pity.

I ONCE interviewed Humphrys. He described his famously skinny frame thus: "You'll find more fat on a seagull's lip."

AS Ireland commemorates the 100th anniversary of the Easter Rising, I wonder what those heroic, doomed young revolutionaries of 1916 would make of their homeland today. They were romantics and idealists, teachers and poets. They dreamed of an idyllic, pastoral, Gaelic nation, a land of legend and martyrs, blessed by the blood of its heroes and run by the will of the people, not by foreigners in London. Today's Ireland, thoroughly immersed in the EU, is subject not to diktat from Whitehall but to diktat from Brussels.

'Get cycling' call after £4m work

PEOPLE are being encouraged to make use of Staffordshire's cycleways following £4 million worth of improvements.

Most towns have seen improvements to their cycleways with many now linking into the national cycle network.

They include the NCN55 Millennium Way route, which now links Newport and Stafford via a modern 15-mile cycleway for both cyclists and walkers.

Cycle training through Bikeability is also helping keep young people safer on their bikes and has delivered training to over 68,000 pupils in the county since it started in 2006.

Mark Winnington, cabinet member for economy, environment and transport at the county council, said: "We are committed to developing our cycling network here in Staffordshire and are keen to show people how cycling can easily be part of everyday life. We want to see more people on their bikes and that is why we are investing in our cycleways, and cycle training.

"There are lots of great things about cycling, not to mention keeping fit and healthy, getting fresh air and saving money by not using the car. And it's not just for leisure – we would also like to see more people using the bike to get to and from work."

The county council produces a cycling map for every district, showing traffic-free and quieter routes suitable for road cycling. The maps are available from local libraries. Visit www.staffordshire.gov.uk/transport and click on 'cycling and walking'.

100 homes are raided over internet abuse

By Carl Jackson

ONE hundred homes have been raided by police in connection with children in Staffordshire being targeted by online paedophiles.

Since the launch of Operation Safenet in July, Staffordshire Police have executed 100 warrants at properties across the county and arrested 86 people. Suspects have subsequently gone through the courts, with more than 260 charges brought before judges including people facing multiple accusations.

The on-going operation has crossed county and even national borders. Police have kept a lid on specific details, due to the sensitivity of the cases, until they reach a conclusion. But the force has declared that 123 children have been 'safeguarded' so far due to the operation.

Det Sgt Steve Chadwick of Staffordshire Police said: "Operation Safenet commenced in July of last year to target those who seek to target and abuse children online.

Resulted

"Our operations to date have resulted in 100 warrants being executed, 86 individuals being arrested resulting in 260 charges. More importantly we have safeguarded 123 children as a direct result of our actions. The offences for which people have been charged range from possession or making of indecent images of children, voyeurism, sexual assault of a child and grooming.

"These charges have resulted in convictions and sentences ranging from three-year community orders to nine-year custodial sentences."

The largest punishment handed out so far was a nine-year jail term given to a 38-year-old Leeds woman for abusing her own daughter and sending pictures of the sordid acts over the internet.

Suspects in Stafford and Cannock have also been rooted out, with their prosecutions still ongoing. Operation Safenet is headed by a team using digital investigative technology to identify where indecent images in the county are being viewed.

Prosecution pledge over fly-tippers

Fly-tipping in Gains Lane, Great Wyrley. Picture by Steve Derry

FLY-TIPPERS dumped a settee, fridge and bags of rubbish at the side of a road in Great Wyrley.

The rubbish was left in Gains Lane in what is the latest episode in an ongoing battle with fly-tipping in the Cannock Chase and South Staffordshire area.

Councillor Janet Johnson, of South Staffordshire Council, has said the problem is 'constant', and Councillor George Adamson, leader of Cannock Chase Council, said his authority always seeks to prosecute fly-tippers.

Reports of fly-tipping in Cannock Chase rose in 416 during 2014-15 – up from 318 three years before – while the clean-up cost rose from £18,091 in 2012-13 to £23,846 in 2014-15.

Councillor Adamson said: "If we can find the offenders in cases of fly-tipping, we will always prosecute them. It is never easy to catch these people, such is the nature of the crime, but we are determined to take action wherever we can.

"Fly-tipping in Cannock Chase is a problem that seems to come and go but our response is the same – we always look to punish these people."

Councillor Johnson said: "Fly-tipping in South Staffordshire is a constant problem – it is happening all over the place – and I think it is an absolute disgrace.

"If people can't be bothered to take their rubbish down to the tip, then that is just terrible.

"There is no need for people to be putting rubbish on the streets, and it is a huge issue in the area."

Town earns praise for dementia awareness

THE support given by communities in Staffordshire for people with dementia has received national praise.

Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt singled out Hednesford for the fantastic work going on to help those suffering with the debilitating disease.

In reply to a question from Cannock Chase MP Amanda Milling, Mr Hunt said: "I absolutely recognise the excellent work that is happening in Hednesford, and in South Staffordshire, as a dementia-friendly community.

"I know that there are more than 2,000 dementia friends in Cannock Chase. Fantastic work is going on."

Councillor Alan White, cabinet member for health, care and wellbeing on Staffordshire County Council, said: "Dementia is one of the biggest challenges facing the county, and it is essential that we raise awareness of the services and support available for people living with dementia, along with their carers and families.

"As a county council we are committed to ensuring residents have access to the support they need to lead as fulfilled and independent lives for as long as we very much recognise the devastating impact dementia can have not only on individuals, but on their family and friends.

"This is why we are doing everything we can to ensure people can get access to the support they need in their local community."

A dementia-friendly community is defined as one in which people with dementia are empowered to have aspirations and feel confident.

Earl is to unveil donor memorial

THE Duke of Gloucester is today unveiling a memorial in Staffordshire paying tribute to the UK's tens of thousands of organ and tissue donors.

The Gift of Life memorial at the National Memorial Arboretum also recognises the patients who have received an organ transplant or whose lives have been transformed by tissue donation.

It is hoped it will also draw attention to the thousands of people still waiting for a transplant and those who have died because no organ was available for them.

The memorial is the culmination of years of fundraising by the Donor Family Network, a charity dedicated to providing support to organ and tissue donor families and raising awareness of organ and tissue donation.

Four months' delays as roadworks start

DRIVERS face more than four months of delays caused by roadworks in Longford Road, Cannock.

National Grid is carrying out 'essential gas maintenance' until August 15. Drivers are warned to expect delays with temporary signals in place.

Dish offer in campaign to speed up broadband

HOMES and businesses in Staffordshire suffering with slow broadband will be able to get a discount on a satellite dish to boost their speeds.

A government subsidy could be available to families if they struggle to get access to an affordable broadband service with a speed of at least 2Mb per second.

Those interested need to put their postcode into basicbroadbandchecker.culture.gov.uk where more information will be available.

Staffordshire County Council's economy leader Mark Winnington said: "We recently hit the 80,000-property milestone as we roll out the Superfast Staffordshire programme – making a real difference to communities which are now able to connect.

"This is a priority to us as it opens up more opportunities to people and business wherever they're located.

"When our programme has been completed, 95 per cent of properties in the county will be able to connect to superfast broadband.

"We have always maintained that we would work towards providing faster broadband speeds to the final five per cent of properties, and the satellite broadband scheme led by Government will support us in achieving that."

The Government are working to bring superfast broadband to the whole of the UK by 2017.

For more details, as well as further details on broadband in the county, visit superfaststaffordshire.co.uk

Hundreds of jobs axed in libraries

HUNDREDS of jobs have been axed in public libraries, while volunteer numbers have rocketed in the last six years as councils balance the books.

The figures compiled following a survey by the BBC show that almost a quarter of employees were taken off the payroll. In 2010, there were 1,151 library employees in the Black Country but now there are 817 – 334 fewer. In that time, volunteer numbers have soared from 365 to 799 – up 434.

Staffordshire was the worst-hit, losing 114 employees, while Sandwell (91) and Wolverhampton (85) were close behind. Walsall lost 38 staff, and Dudley six.

Staffordshire has also taken on 214 more volunteers since 2010 – more than any other council in the region.

Tribute band to play racecourse

TRIBUTE band Only One Direction will be performing at Uttoxeter Racecourse's family fun day on April 30.

There will also be a programme of seven races with gates open at midday. Adult admission is from £12.

Speed watch set up near to school

Paul Woodhead – speed watch scheme

A COMMUNITY speed watch is being introduced outside a Hednesford school in a bid to stop motorists driving too fast.

The initiative will monitor driving and parking habits in the area near St Joseph's Primary School; Hill Top; Hill Street; East Cannock Road; Lower Road and Stagborough, where residents have raised safety concerns over the years.

Volunteers will be briefed at a meeting on April 14 at St Joseph's on how they can make a difference, and how they will be kept safe when helping deliver the scheme. Paul Woodhead, organiser of the scheme, said: "This is one in a series of measures to address speeding and inconsiderate parking in our local area. We hope it will make a real difference to improve safety on our roads before someone gets seriously hurt or killed.

"The meeting is open to all local residents to build awareness and understanding of the scheme and how it will help our community.

"For 'housekeeping' purposes I just ask that people contact me by email or phone to confirm attendance. This is just the start of the process, and we hope to gather a number of volunteers who can spare an hour or so per month. I am grateful that this session will be led by a Community Speedwatch Co-ordinator and the support of St Joseph's to host the meeting."

A speed indicator device was recently situated on Hill Top, as well as one on East Cannock Road on the approach to St Joseph's School.

The meeting starts at 6.15pm.

Tablet put in meat 'to poison our pet dog'

FOOD laced with a mystery tablet was thrown into a dog owner's garden in Penkridge, prompting fears of an attempted poisoning.

The pill, shaped like paracetamol, was found shoved inside a slice of corned beef.

It was found by Eddy Brunet who had let his partner's dogs Rolo and Tiggy out to play into the garden. He had noticed Rolo go to pick something up that looked like a chunk of wood and told her to leave it. When he went over to pick up the object, he noticed it was a slice of corned beef with a pill shoved into it.

Claire Smith, who owns both Rolo and Tiggy, said the incident was 'heartbreaking' and called on whoever had done to it to 'hang their head in shame'. She said: "Rolo's completely fine. She's good like that – if you tell her to do something she will. When Ed first rang me and told me what had happened I was fuming – effing and blinding down the phone.

"We believe it was a deliberate attempt to poison our dogs. The police asked if they bark all the time but they don't – Ed is home with them all day. I put a post online to try and warn others and find out if there had been any similar incidents.

Upsetting

"I was expecting a few shares and the odd 'Oh my god, that's disgusting' comment but my phone wouldn't stop going off all night. Last time I looked it had over 2,400 shares.

"It's annoying that someone would do it. It's upsetting as well because normally we let them out, then go off and do the washing or whatever as they could be trusted, but now we're out with torches scanning the garden.

"The pill had PX written on the side. We found one thing on Google which said it might be used for diseases like Parkinson's but we don't know if this is the same pill. It's shaped like paracetamol which of course is toxic to cats and dogs. It would have been devastating for us if any anything had happened, my dogs are my children. It's heartbreaking to think someone could do something like this to an animal.

"Whoever has done this should hang their head in shame," she added.

Staffordshire Police has asked for anyone with information to get in touch.

Deana Pritchard, a spokeswoman for the force, said: "The dog warden has been notified to make them aware." Anyone with any information should call Staffordshire Police on 101.

Pub hosts 'dazzling' trophy

WE'RE all hoping it will be the England captain holding aloft the European Championship trophy in France this summer – but youngsters got their hands on it first at a Rugeley pub.

The Henri Delaunay trophy was at The Chase Inn as part of a Carlsberg initiative to give football fans the chance to get a close look at the famous prize.

Pub landlord Steve Banks said he could not believe his eyes when it arrived. He said: "When they first opened the case it was beautiful. I've been a massive football fan all my life, and apart from the World Cup, there is no bigger trophy. It was dazzling."

"The young children came to look at it and some older ones had photographs as well, it's something they'll probably never see again in their lifetimes."

The pub was named Marstons Sky Sports Pub of the Year last year, and Steve believes that had a bearing on being given the chance to host the coveted trophy.

The trophy event was a fundraiser in memory of local youngsters Joe Hunt and Stuart Kawak, with proceeds going to Birmingham Children's Hospital and children's grassroots football clubs.

The pub has raised £20,000 for the hospital over the years and expects the latest event to have brought in more £1,000.

Co-op staff hurt in armed robbery

THREE men armed with wooden sticks carried out a robbery at a convenience store in Staffordshire, attacking two workers.

They wore balaclavas and hoodies and injured a man and woman who worked at the Co-op in Brewood Road, Coven. The man was taken to hospital. The armed robbery happened on Easter Monday at around 10pm.

The thugs escaped with cash and cigarettes in a getaway car drove by a fourth member.

Twelve nuisance calls a month, study finds

AN average person in Staffordshire receives 12 nuisance calls every month, a new study has revealed.

Almost 10 per cent of people said they received as many as 30 nuisance calls on a monthly basis.

More than half of the county's residents have had a nuisance caller consistently call them over a period of time, even though they have told them to stop calling.

The most common type of nuisance call in the area are PPI claims.

IN MY VIEW

Selfie with hijacker is just 'plane' daft

WE'VE all been there. You're on a nice peaceful flight on the way to your holiday in the sun, when some whack-job in Curly Watts specs tells you he's got dynamite in his vest and is going to blow the plane up.

So naturally, the first thing that comes into your mind is to ask the madman if he would awfully mind posing with you for a selfie.

At least that is what Ben Innes from Leeds chose to do after the plane he was travelling on was hijacked

He didn't even use it to cancel his hotel booking. Instead, grinning like a deranged Cheshire Cat, he had his photograph taken by the lunatic threatening to blow the plane up, putting the lives of all the fellow passengers in imminent danger.

Doesn't that tell you all you need to know about the narcissistic, fame-obsessed world of people who live their lives on so-called social media?

And it isn't even a proper selfie. While I wouldn't describe myself as a keen purveyor of the medium, it is my understanding that a selfie has to be taken by the person in the picture.

And as we can see from the images which have been plastered all around the world over the past week, both his hands are clearly visible.

So he either asked Curly if he would kindly take his hand off his suicide belt for a moment and hold the camera, which seems a tad unlikely, or he roped somebody else in to take the picture. What a pair of clowns.

Innes said he went through a "thorough thought process", and wanted to show the hijacker he was human. But I'm really not convinced. Far from reassuring the hijacker, I think such behaviour would freak anybody out. The likelihood is the thought "this guy's an even bigger weirdo than me".

Thankfully, it turned out that the hijacker was not carrying any explosives, and the passengers escaped unharmed. But it could have been very different.

Ben Innes, by the way, is a health-and-safety auditor. Remember this next time you hear about children being told to wear goggles for conkers, bus drivers who have to wear high-visibility jackets, or builders who are not allowed to climb ladders.

ON Friday, 40 members of the public wore Piers Morgan masks and boarded the giant DY Eye Ferris wheel in Dudley.

Some may recall the renowned sage had described the wheel as offering a horrible view.

"I can't think of a grimmer panorama than Dudley at 7.37 in the morning," said the great man.

I certainly can't think of a grimmer one than last Friday.

Roy Kelly in his new London surroundings

Roy with his mother, growing up in Blakenall

Roy with his dad, Sidney, in Thames Road, 1949

Roy in the back garden at a friend's house

Roy tells how times they were a changin'

JAMES FISHER talks to author Roy Kelly about his love of the Black Country, Bob Dylan and life in the Swinging Sixties

GROWING up with the likes of The Beatles, Rolling Stones and his hero, Bob Dylan, ringing in his ears ensured Roy Kelly had a happy upbringing.

Having moved from his childhood home in Walsall and its industrial landscape to become a successful poet and author working from London, Roy has decided to pen an autobiographical book, entwined with his love for music.

The 67-year-old, who was three years below Slade's Noddy Holder at T P Riley School in Walsall, grew up in Thames Road, Blakenall.

His personal history of growing up in the Black Country during the 1950s and 1960s, along with memories of a time when Dylan and the Fab Four ruled the airwaves, have been combined to form his latest book, charting how everything eventually passes and changes – both for rock stars and their fans.

Cultural

Roy, who has also written short stories and plays for BBC radio, has published 'Bob Dylan Dream: My Life With Bob' through Pembury House.

"This latest publication combines a social history of growing up in the Black Country alongside a cultural history of the 1960s," said Roy.

"While the book is about me and my life, it also shines a spotlight on a particular moment in time when Dylan, the Beatles and the Rolling Stones were changing the way that young people thought about the world.

"The main focus, however, considers how life and memories alter as we get further from the days of the counter culture, and how for rock stars and their fans everything passes and changes."

Roy, who is married to Jo and has an 18-year-old son, Lou, moved to London in 1970 but the book explores how a person's background and upbringing shapes them and stays with them forever, even when they have made a new life away from 'home'.

Roy has spent much of his life writing about his music idol, Bob Dylan

It also looks at how sometimes it is hard to go back to your roots because everything has changed so much.

"The book is hard to characterise because it's not wholly about Bob Dylan or wholly about Walsall, it is about what it was like for me being part of all those things," said Roy.

"I moved decades ago to Richmond and now live not far away in a place called Isleworth but I'm like everyone who was a teenager in the sixties – an older guy who tends not to believe it."

Music played a big part in Roy's life while he was growing up and still does today, not because he played an instrument but because he came of age when so much 'new and marvellous' music was happening. "It becomes the air you breathe," he said.

"It linked with poetry too, especially the folk end of things, because groups were writing their own songs.

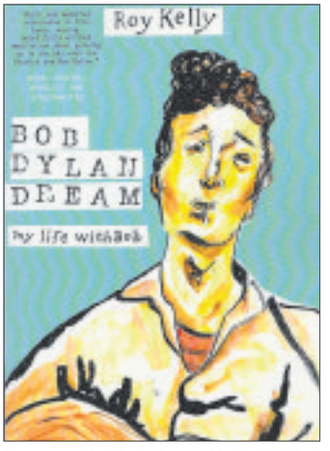
"I find it a bit odd to call Bob Dylan a hero but if you really like someone there's always a tautology involved.

"You like them because everything about them is what you like, especially at that age.

"I liked his voice, his look, what he sang and the world he seemed to come from and represent but I felt the same about The Beatles and the Stones."

Roy continued to like, listen to and read about Bob Dylan, which eventually led to him becoming involved with a magazine during the early 1980s called The Telegraph.

"It started as a scrappy fan mag but gradually evolved into an impressive thick and glossy subscriber quarterly," he said.



The cover of Bob Dylan Dream: My Life With Bob

His work came to the attention of an agent who said compiling such a collection would be hard to place.

But given the autobiographical content he suggested Roy could write an actual autobiography and blend in the Dylan material.

"Once I began I started to want to let people know what it was like to be an ordinary person growing up in times that everyone thinks they know about," said Roy.

"The sixties is such a shorthand term, like a brand name.

"I wanted to write about what the normality was like and how all normality is extraordinary and worth considering if you can write it well. And that's what I was trying to do."

A lot of the book's chapters are dedicated to Roy growing up in Walsall and his fond memories of the Black Country.

Bob Dylan Dream: My Life With Bob is available on Kindle or in paperback.

Insight into amusing and odd names

Landor Society

MEMBERS were given an informative and amusing insight into the working of the Record Office when John Yates, a former genealogist at Birmingham Registry Office, visited the society to give his talk entitled 'A funny thing happened at the Register Office'.

John related how civil registration had started in 1837 and the office held registers on births marriages and deaths.

Some of the indexes have now been digitised but some of the registers were difficult to read, he said.

Among the famous names registered in Birmingham are George Cadbury, John Henry Newman, Barbara Cartland, Tony Hancox and Robert Norman Davis, aka Jasper Carrott.

Unusual

Buffalo Bill's death was registered at Birmingham in 1903 as at the time he was taking part in two shows in the region.

Some of the unusual names chosen for babies were Posh, Mercedes and Porch.

There were triplets named Faith, Hope and Charity, while one boy, whose father was Michael Rabbit, was called Peter.

There were also many Harry Potters registered.

Amusing and unusual occupations were 'bone gatherer', 'retired squatter', 'cow leach' (the old name for a vet), and most unusual of all 'a Rodney' (meaning the person was bone idle).

This is just a brief summary of what John was able to tell during his very enjoyable talk.

Commissioner gives talk to WI members

Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis with members of Penkvale WI

Penkvale WI

STAFFORDSHIRE'S Police & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis gave the lowdown on local policing to more than 45 members of Penkvale Group Women's Institute.

Mr Ellis addressed members at their meeting in Penkridge about the work he has done to join up local services, the successful roll-out of mobile technology devices to help to free up 250,000 hours of visible, frontline policing a year and the introduction of the Staffordshire Police Cadets. He then answered questions from WI members.

Mr Ellis said: "I would like to thank Penkvale WI for such a warm welcome and for inviting me to be their guest speaker. The reception they gave me was fantastic and I would like to thank them once more for their generous donation of £50 towards the Staffordshire Police Cadets."

Penkvale WI chairman Joyce Cox said: "Thank you to the Police & Crime Commissioner for coming to speak with members. We all enjoyed learning more about what the PCC role includes and the future of policing in Staffordshire.

"We look forward to seeing the changes he has implemented take effect across Staffordshire."

All welcome at open meeting

Norton Canes Flower Club

CHRISTINE Flood welcomed members to the March meeting.

In his talk about orchids, speaker John Spires told where they grow in the wild and reminded members that there were species growing in this country, some endangered but others flourishing.

The orchids that are grown for house plants are not native and John explained the type of conditions that they need in our homes and how to look after them. He also demonstrated how to re-pot an orchid. It was an entertaining and educational evening.

Everyone is welcome to an open meeting on April 20. It is to be held at Norton Canes High School, Burntwood Road, and the demonstrator is Shirley Henderson with 'Out of Africa'. Tickets are £6 on 01543 279133, or pay on the door.

Regular meetings are on the third Wednesday of the month at the Trinity Methodist Chapel, Poplar Street.

Lack of viable options

HAVING been a campaigner for better care in this country for a decade now, I have never before witnessed such a level of deceit as has been exposed by Iain Duncan Smith.

I have repeatedly challenged the claims of a number of ministers with regard to the level of investment they state is being put into health and social care, on the grounds that they keep presenting 'the same monies' in different guises as a means of inflating the truth.

This, however, is something, they continually choose to ignore?

Unfortunately, however, this is the price we pay for having a lack of viable political options and this government are fully aware of this fact and believe that they can walk on water and therefore have no fear of being challenged or, indeed, even being caught out, because they know that time is on their side.

Flood of workers has driven down wages

I HAVE received a leaflet from Sir Hugh Orde, former president of the Association of Chief Police Officers.

In it he claims that if we were not in the EU we could not fight terrorism. Wrong – that is what Interpol was set up for. He claims it is good for the workers. Wrong – the flood of workers from Eastern Europe has resulted in 10 workers for each job driving down wages and work conditions along with zero hour contracts.

Further, many Eastern Europeans are claiming items such as family allowance and sending the funds paid for by British taxpayers to their countries of origin. Being a member of the EU did not prevent Fiat closing the components factory in Cannock and exporting the jobs to Mexico.

He claims that we get many subsidies from Europe, which is totally wrong as we pay in three times as much as we get out. Europe is a major trading partner but most of the trade is imports from France, Germany, Spain and Italy. However, 60 per cent of our trade is with the rest of the world.

In 1953, Winston Churchill said if we have to choose between Europe and the sea we should always choose the sea.

In 1940 we stood alone and Germany and France along with the USA Ambassador Joseph Kennedy were convinced we would come to an arrangement with Hitler. We won then and we can win now.

Victims deserve better than this

I WAS shocked to read the comments made by Matthew Ellis, Staffordshire's Tory Police & Crime Commissioner, about the report by Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC) concerning how effective Staffordshire Police are in protecting those who are vulnerable from harm and supporting victims.

The HMIC report said Staffordshire Police were 'inadequate' and that their effectiveness 'requires improvement'. What a damning indictment of the force under Mr Ellis Instead of apologising, he calls it a 'tick-box attitude'.

Victims of domestic violence and other vulnerable victims deserve better than this. They need full support through what is a traumatic period in their lives. Mr Ellis is quick to claim the praise when things go well. He should have the courage to accept responsibility when things go wrong. When you're in charge, you're in charge all of the time.

I want Chancellor out

IN response to last month's Budget, I am a disabled person and feel that all disabled people are being unjustly and unfairly treated by the Government. I have therefore started a petition directly to the Prime Minister to request that Mr Osborne is removed from his position as Chancellor so he cannot inflict any further pain and suffering on the citizens of the UK. The petition is at www.change.org

Countries are paid in preparation

IT'S a statement of fact that the Balkan countries of Serbia, Bosnia-Herzogovina, Albania and Montenegro want to join the EU and that the EU wants them in.

The total populations are around 14.5 million and this 'will' happen sometime in the near future.

But are readers aware that between 2014 and 2020, the EU 'has been' and 'will continue' to fund these countries with EU taxpayers' money to the tune of over 2.5 billion euros in order that they carry out 'reforms' in preparation for membership?

Are they checking to see that these funds are used correctly? Apparently not.

So not only do they want to join, it seems that the UK is partly paying for it.

If you want to vote to stay in the EU knowing that these countries will soon be members with free unrestricted movement for anyone, you must be crazy.

Banks are unmoved by zero rate move

SUB-PRIME lending caused the banking crash, the economic reasoning being it was possible to give loans to the homeless and claim huge profits as a result.

The European Union operates in much the same way, with its bankers lending money to dirt-poor countries, who they call partners. But the loans come with strings attached, sucking in imports, mainly from Germany.

Later comes an order for debt repayment alongside crippling interest charges. Savage cuts are then demanded on those said to be living beyond their means.

The Euro is a currency now printing an extra 80 billion per month. Its bank rate has been slashed to zero, yet still the banks remain unmoved. The lenders appear to be wary of those who would borrow.

My potholed street like lunar landscape

DURING the course of my various jobs over the last 27 years I have been required to drive all over the UK, and I have always been aware of the poor condition of Cannock's roads in comparison to most of UK. However, over the last few years the problem seems to have gone off the scale.

This, along with the disproportionate amount of speed humps, is a continual assault on people's vehicles – my own street resembles a lunar landscape. Obviously, years of neglect and under-investment are the cause but we have reached the limit and in a few more years our roads will be in a poorer state than a Third World country.

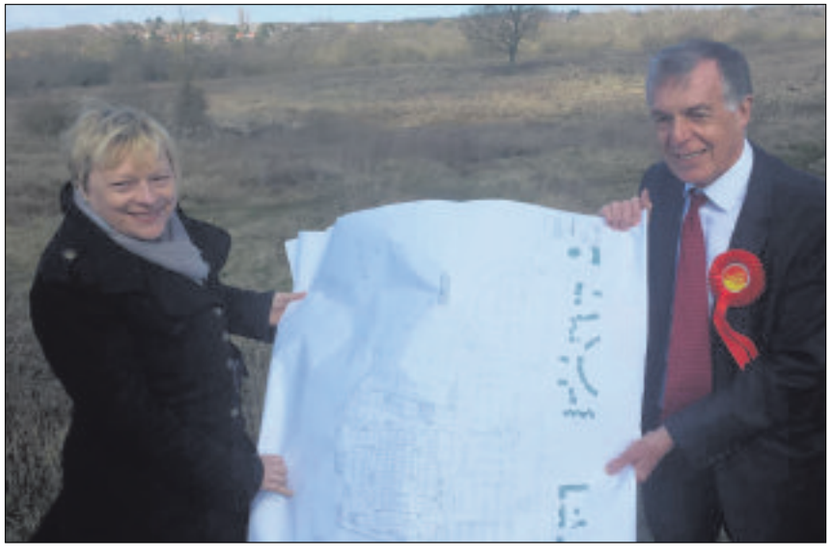
£115m designer village 'a huge draw'



Council leader George Adamson and Labour's shadow business secretary Angela Eagle look over the plans

LABOUR'S shadow business secretary Angela Eagle has pledged her backing to Cannock's new £115 million designer shopping village.

The Mill Green Designer Outlet Village will be built next to Mill Green Nature Reserve, off Eastern Way, after plans for the scheme were approved by the Government last year.

Work is set to start on the development in early 2017, with an opening date pencilled in for early 2018.

During a visit to the site to cast her eye over plans for the scheme, she said it would give a major push to the West Midlands economy, with 700 construction jobs and 1,200 full-time jobs set to be created. "This is no mean feat," she said. "This will mean, in real terms, an increase of four percent on current employment levels in Cannock Chase.

"This will be a huge draw for Cannock, and people will travel from across the West Midlands, and further afield, to visit this attraction."

Ms Eagle compared the development to Bicester Village, in Oxfordshire, which attracts more than six million visitors a year. She added: "If we can see that sort of business here happening in Cannock Chase, then it will have a huge positive impact on the West Midlands economy."

The site is set to feature 130 shops – including Ralph Lauren and Superdry – plus restaurants, a children's play area, a visitor centre and a multi-storey car park with 2,000 spaces. As part of the deal, an as yet undetermined amount of Section 106 cash will be allocated to improving roads around the site, including a new dual carriageway and crossing along Eastern Way.

Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson described the development as a 'real coup for Cannock'.

He said: "Many of our neighbours would give their eye-teeth to have this on their doorstep. It will bring major regeneration to Cannock along with millions of people into the area."

Meanwhile, talks are progressing over plans to allow visitors to the shopping village to use the M6 Toll for free.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Kit donation to young footballers

Young players at a community football club have been kitted out with a delivery of training kits, football equipment and bibs from Amazon in Rugeley. The Magpies at Brereton Town FC received the donation as part of Amazon's community programme. Laura Ellis from the club said: "On behalf of everyone at the club, we would like to warmly thank the team at Rugeley's Amazon site for the generous donation." Amazon area manager James Ellis, right, joined the team for some training and officially present the new kit

Council aims to close 'gap'

CANNOCK Chase Council is looking to address the 'gap' in face-to-face contact between the authority and residents.

It has placed responsibility for bridging this gap on the shoulders of councillors, asking them to represent the views and concerns of residents and bring about resolutions to issues.

The issue of a lack of face-to-face contact has come about after the Community Forums were disbanded in May last year.

The matter was addressed in a report prepared for the council's customers and corporate scrutiny committee last month, chaired by Councillor Tony Johnson.

Important

It said: "Following the decision of council in May 2015 to discontinue the Community Forums, the customers and corporate scrutiny committee was assigned to review the council's existing approach to community engagement and provide recommendations for development where appropriate.

"Whilst the council has developed online and social media tools for communication and consultation, traditional methods of dialogue through face-to-face contact, printed publications and the local media continue to be important methods for communicating with the public in the district.

"A Task and Finish sub-group did note that since the Forums ceased, there may be an engagement 'gap' in face-to-face contact with the public."

Oh, what a night as star names top bill at theatre

OH, what a night it will be for Frankie Valli fans at the Prince of Wales Centre this month.

The sounds of the Four Seasons can be heard at the Church Street theatre in Big Girls Don't Cry on Saturday, April 30, at 7.30pm.

The critically-acclaimed show features some of the group's leading numbers including Sherry, Let's Hang On!, Walk Like A Man, Rag Doll and Working My Way Back To You. Tickets are £22, or £21 concessions.

A tribute to the Fab Four takes place at the Prince of Wales on April 16. The Mersey Beatles make a welcome return after a sell-out show last year. Born and bred in Liverpool, the band have also appeared more than 350 times at the famous Cavern Club in the city. Tickets are £18 for the 7.30pm show.

Irish songstress Ann Breen appears on April 24, tickets £16, while former Yes keyboardist Rick Wakeman embarks on a theatre tour that takes in the Prince of Wales on April 29.

Shugborough staff angry at 'dreadful' job cuts

ONLY eight workers are set to keep their jobs at the Shugborough Estate as National Trust bosses propose 'dreadful' cuts for when they take over the site this year.

Employees who attended a meeting with trust bosses say they were told senior managers are to be axed and dozens of workers will be replaced by volunteers.

As well as an army of volunteers, Shugborough employs 35 full-time workers and 52 seasonal workers but they have been told only eight of these roles will be retained.

New roles will be created at the estate which existing staff have been told they can apply for. The changes would take place after Staffordshire County Council formally surrenders its lease to the trust at the end of October.

A worker who wished to remain anonymous said: "Staff were horrified, very angry, tearful and shocked to discover the extent of job losses and redundancies. Senior managers are to go, almost all front line staff are going to be replaced by volunteers who will know nothing about the place.

Shugborough – £650,000 losses

"Ticket office staff and many others are all to lose their roles.

"The new management model is no surprise as it would always have been very different from the county council one but the numbers and waste of talent, knowledge and skills is a total shock. "Some staff have worked above and beyond their remit at the estate for more than 20 years.

"It was a hideous day. How on earth will the remaining staff stay cheerful and positive for this final season with the direct threat of redundancies looming over them? How will they respond to visitors questions when they visit? It's dreadful."

The trust said they could not comment on the specific claims by the worker or confirm how many staff are to be effected. Ben Shipston, assistant director for operations, said: "Staffordshire County Council's operating model at Shugborough has been losing at least £650,000 each year.

"Throughout the process, the National Trust will take all reasonable steps to mitigate the impact of these changes, as well as looking at redeployment opportunities for those people affected.

"Any roles offered as an alternative to redundancy will be offered on National Trust terms and conditions."

Monkeys arrive in anniversary year

The entrance to the tamarin trail at Drayton Manor

An emperor tamarin settles in

THEME park visitors can see its new arrivals monkeying around – as a new tamarin trail was unveiled at Drayton Manor.

The Staffordshire attraction, which this year celebrates its 65th anniversary, is now home to a number of cotton topped, white lipped, red-handed and emperor tamarins as well the common marmoset. They were officially welcomed on Good Friday as Drayton Manor chief executive officer Colin Bryan launched the tamarin trail.

Native to South America, the squirrel-sized monkeys are an endangered species. Mr Bryan said park bosses had realised their habitat was disappearing and moved to ensure they could return to their natural domain.

The primates are situated within the park's existing zoo, which houses more than 100 animals, including birds of prey, reptiles, meerkats and a Sumatran tiger among others.

Bosses this year hope to capitalise on a record-breaking 2015 which saw more visitors than any other year, and its highest ever firework spectacular attendance with 33,000 visitors over three days.

This year could also mark another milestone as it looks to welcome its 50 millionth customer.

£250m rail scheme 'a test case for HS2'

Picture has stamp of class

Former art teacher Pete Mason with the picture of the Queen he has made entirely out of postage stamps

A FORMER art teacher has made a first-class effort to celebrate the Queen's 90th birthday.

Pete Mason has made dozens of pictures from recycled stamps, including portraits of David Bowie, Terry Wogan and Frank Sinatra.

But his latest image has a more royal flavour, depicting Her Majesty on a queen of hearts card.

It took 3,000 stamps to create the image, the latest of a number that Pete has created of the Queen.

The artist said the picture was 'symbolic of the closeness of the Queen to her royal supporters'.

"The top face silhouettes her in profile as depicted on the first-class stamp, and the other face is a Pop Art representation," he said.

"Her face is portrayed in a variety of commemorative stamps issued by the Royal Mail throughout her reign."

Born in Brownhills, Pete studied at Stafford College of Art and started creating this style of picture after retiring from Kingsmead Technology College in Hednesford.

For more information, or to see some of his previous work, visit his website at thepostpopartman.co.uk

A £250 MILLION rail project to speed up trains near Stafford has served as a 'test case' for HS2, the Transport Secretary has said.

The two-year Norton Bridge scheme has seen a partnership of four companies lay six miles of track to ease a bottleneck on the West Coast main line.

Patrick McLoughlin said the project demonstrated how transport companies could work together with communities in advance of work starting on the £55 billion HS2 project next year.

Last week, MPs voted overwhelmingly in favour of building the high-speed rail line, which will plough through 45 miles of Staffordshire countryside and is set to completed by 2027.

The scheme has met with mass opposition from more than 200 local communities along the route, with anti-HS2 campaigners saying they will be left to live on a construction site for a decade.

Travel

Describing HS2 as 'something that just had to happen', Mr McLoughlin said: "I am the first to accept that when you do any big, major infrastructure project you can't do it without facing problems with local communities. But what has happened here [in Norton Bridge] has been a test case for the way in which contractors have come together to deliver this particular project.

"They have worked with local residents and have taken them through what happens. Of course, I accept that a big railway project like HS2 is going to cause controversy. If we are going to have the connectivity between our main cities we desperately need to have to ensure those cities have the opportunity of attracting investment, allowing people to travel and giving more local services."

The first stage of the HS2 project between London and Handsacre will go to the Lords to be ratified before being rubber-stamped later this year.

Wakes budget halved to £20k in return 'home'

THE budget for the 2016 Burntwood Wakes has been set at £20,000 – half of what it has been in recent years, say organisers.

This year's festival will return to its old stomping ground at Burntwood Leisure Centre, formerly the old 'baths'.

The event, which attracts up to 10,000 revellers each year, moved to Burntwood Rugby Club in the early 2000s so it could be expanded from one day to three but its lack of parking and its 'bowl-like' plot of land saw its popularity dwindle.

But now Burntwood Town Council says the Wakes is 'coming home'.

Even though organisers have gone for a more focused approach this year, reverting to one day, the Wakes will actually kick off a week early.

The Push Kart Derby, which was staged for the first time last year at Sankey's Corner, will be returning on Saturday, July 16.

It is expected to be bigger and better for 2016 with hopefully up to 15 entrants – double the number who took part the first time.

Proms night at a Burntwood Wakes

Council chairman Pam Stokes said that the budget for this year's Wakes is £20,000 – half of what it has been at the rugby club – but it is hoped the festival can be expanded in future years including securing the return of the popular float parade. She said: "Last year was a bit of an experiment but we had the first Push Kart Derby and it was great fun so it will be great to have that coming back.

"We are working to a much tighter budget than in the past – £20,000 sounds like a lot but when you break it down it's not. The derby costs £4,500 on its own. We can't have the big procession this year because of all of the health and safety issues but we will look into it for future years."

Councillor Stokes said the venue switch follows public demand.

"We hope this will return the Wakes to its former glory," she said. This is what people have been screaming out for in the last few years."

"We asked people what they wanted and they said 'bring it home, let's go back to the traditional Wakes'."

In the past, the likes of Status Quo have performed at the Wakes, or the Chase Wakes as it is fondly known to some. The Chase Wakes launched in 1865 to celebrate the opening of St Anne's Church. It closed down in 1959 due to the decline in coal mining but was revived in 1970.

Caravans park up at supermarket

The caravans arrived at Morrisons in Mill Street, Cannock, on Saturday and remained until Sunday afternoon

A GROUP of caravans pitched up on the car park at Morrisons supermarket in Cannock.

Caravans arrived at the site in Mill Street on Saturday and remained until Sunday afternoon.

Councillor George Adamson, leader of Cannock Chase Council, said he was concerned that another illegal camp had been set up in the town. "It is concerning because it seems that we are on the travellers' radar, we are on their list of targets, places they know they can come and set up," he said.

"The town centre Morrisons is used regularly by people in the town, and they shouldn't have to put up with it, nor should the business."

In early March, travellers in around 10 caravans descended on the car park of Chase Leisure Centre before being served with an enforcement notice.

Around 20 caravans and vans moved onto privately owned land between Chris Bird Dental Care and Cannock Resource Centre in Walsall Road, Bridgtown, the week prior to that.

Whatever the occasion, we'll make it that extra bit special...

Group's delight over choice of county flag

BOSSES at a heritage group in Staffordshire which won a poll to have its own flag recognised for the county have proclaimed their delight at the result.

They have now called on Staffordshire County Council, which rivalled the Heritage Group with its own flag, to adopt the traditional gold background and red chevron. The group is hoping that the long-running saga over what should officially be known as the flag of Staffordshire is over after its design beat the county council's design by more than 350 votes in a poll held by the Flag Institute.

Margaret George, chairman of Staffordshire Heritage Group, said: "I am absolutely delighted. We do feel we have represented the views of the people of Staffordshire.

"Our flag represents so many people and symbolises everything from the potteries to the Black Country. The Flag Institute does not look at the county council's area, it looks at the historic county."

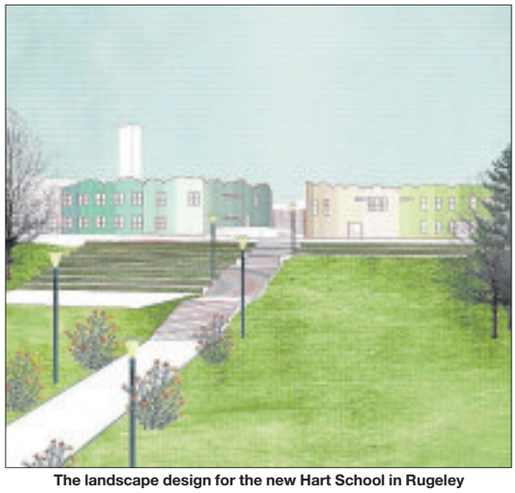
Design

In a statement released by the Heritage Group, bosses added: "We hope that Staffordshire County Council will embrace the new official county flag and either fly it alongside their own banner or maybe adopt the county flag as their own." The heritage group's flag is to be added to the flag registry as the County Flag of Staffordshire.

It secured 566 votes on an online poll while the county council's design, which was similar but featured a blue banner with a golden lion at the top, received 211.

County council leader Philip Atkins said: "The flag charity carried out its own poll covering a wide geographical area, including parts of the Black Country, and 825 people from a population of around two million residents voted, representing the views of less than 0.001 per cent of residents. As the registration of the flag by the charity also carries no official or legal status, our councils, communities, schools and organisations will continue to proudly fly our current county flag as we have done for years."

Walkway to unite schools



The landscape design for the new Hart School in Rugeley

STUDENTS of the new Hart School in Rugeley, which will open in September, are to have a new walkway and enhanced landscaping.

It follows the announcement that Fair Oak and Hagley Park Academies are to be converted into lower and upper schools with a new pathway between them which from September will be used by up to 450 students a day.

Executive principal Chris Keen said: "The idea for a new landscaped area and pedestrian walkway came from parents, staff and the wider community during the merger consultation process.

"I'm delighted we've been able to respond to feedback. The new landscaped area will provide a pleasant and safe pathway and will be an important symbol of two schools united."

While at present the schools are 'back to back', the new pathway is designed to have the effect of turning them to face each other, signifying the union of the two schools and the beginning of a new era for education in Rugeley.

Pub must pay £600 for having no TV licence

THE company that runs a Brownhills pub has been ordered to pay a total of £613 for not having a valid TV licence.

Edge Inns was fined £375 after a TV was used at The Prince of Wales on Watling Street without a licence.

It was also ordered to pay £200 costs and a £38 victim surcharge when the case came before Nuneaton Magistrates Court. Businesses that show live television must have a licence, whether for customers or just for the benefit of staff. Living premises must be covered by a separate licence.

Mark Whitehouse, TV Licensing spokesperson for the West Midlands, said: "We appreciate these are tough times for businesses, but to be fair to the majority who do pay the licence fee, we have to take action against those who watch TV illegally.

"We'd rather businesses think ahead and check if they need a licence than risk being prosecuted.

"A licence costs £145.50 and can be bought in minutes online." No-one at the pub was available to comment.

Bosses warn of a looming crisis due to skills shortage

INDUSTRY bosses have demanded colleges and sixth forms in Staffordshire improve as they warn of an employment crisis.

The Stoke-on-Trent and Staffordshire Local Enterprise Partnership has raised concerns that a shortage in skills will hit the county's economy.

In its report, the LEP said it was receiving reports from 'many local businesses' about a lack of gaps and a shortage of prospective employees.

It has called on the county to 'develop higher level skills and at a faster rate'.

The report says that the LEP expects 29,700 net new jobs and opportunities to arise due to labour turnover per annum until 2020. Of these, 41 per cent will require skills levels at level 2 or below, 20 per cent at level 3 and 39 per cent at levels 4/+.

But it highlighted the fact that supply was not currently meeting demand for levels 3 and 4+, with too many low-skilled workers.

"It raised particular concerns about the further education sector not operating at a high enough level and businesses not working closely enough with schools, colleges, universities and other providers.

Quality

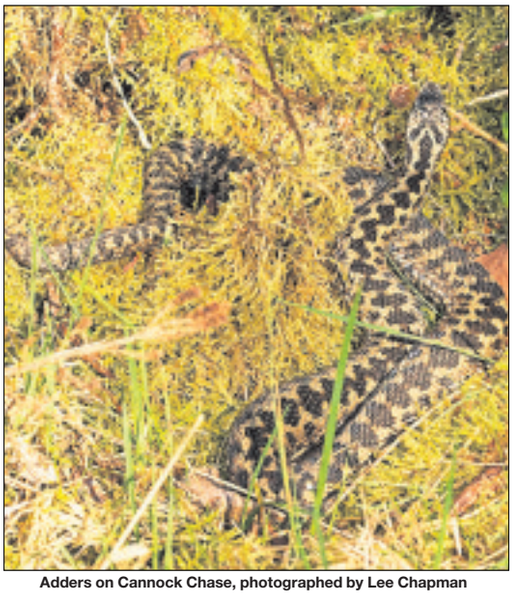
The report said: "The LEP concludes that there are unmet skills needs within the system. It is essential that both businesses and providers take responsibility for this and work closely together to close these gaps and develop a clear and consistent offer to employers and to ensure we take advantage of the opportunity of the apprenticeship levy introduction to grow apprenticeships.

"We expect to see improvements in quality across all sectors."

Staffordshire County Council insists that it has created the 'conditions for businesses to thrive' but that the post-16 review would provide an opportunity for better alignment with businesses.

Councillor Ben Adams, cabinet member for learning and skills, said: "The current Post-16 review by the national Further Education Commissioner is a significant opportunity to make further progress towards this aim, so students in Staffordshire who want higher level apprenticeships, who want to take advantage of the skilled jobs being created on their doorstep in engineering, design, science and technology can learn the necessary skills."

Adders snapped on Chase



Adders on Cannock Chase, photographed by Lee Chapman

WHEN photographer Lee Chapman went out onto Cannock Chase, there was one creature he hoped he'd snap – the elusive adder.

After years of trying, the 34-year-old teacher finally found what he was looking for. The Cannock Chase resident said: "Getting a picture of the adder is something I've been doing for years and years. I went out deliberately looking for them.

"They're very elusive, but they're also the only venomous snake we've got in the country.

"A lot of people fear them. There's a slight risk to dogs in particular. They'd give a nasty bite to humans, but I don't think they'd kill them. As long as you respect them, you shouldn't have any problems."

Lee, who teaches at Birmingham Metropolitan College, said the two managed to photograph were male.

"They've got lovely markings on them," he added. "It feels very good to finally have managed to get a picture. I was very excited the day I got them, but I almost didn't.

"I didn't have my camera at the time, so I had to rush home and get it. Luckily they were still there."

Lee took the picture on his Nikon D7100, which he uses for a variety of wildlife photography.

Quick-thinking girl's text helped to snare sex pest

A TEXT to a British Transport Police number helped officers catch a sex pest.

A 17-year-old girl reported a man touched himself inappropriately on a train from Birmingham to Lichfield. The girl told detectives the same man had behaved in a similar way on two occasions in January.

Police advised her to send a text to 61016 if she saw him again. On August 5, 2014, the girl sent a text informing officers he had boarded at Blake Street.

Officers trawled CCTV footage, and Yonas Abraha was the only person to board at that station. His image was circulated to the media and on September 15, 2014, he came forward to say he was the man in the footage.

Officers established cleaning supervisor Abraha, 42, of Bournville Lane, Bournville, also exposed himself to an 18-year-old woman on the same route. Abraha claimed he travelled to Lichfield because he liked the scenery but denied touching or exposing himself.

Following a trial at Birmingham Crown Court he was found guilty of four counts of outraging public decency and fined £2,500 and sentenced to a three-year community order.

Vets as pets in campaign to advise owners

THE tables were turned at a vets in Great Wyrley where staff dressed up as pets to help promote National Pet Month (NPM).

The team from 387 Vets posed for the camera as cats, dogs and rabbits to illustrate the campaign theme which this year is based around the top ten tips for responsible pet ownership.

The practice will be sharing their photographs in educational Facebook posts throughout April to raise awareness of key pet welfare considerations.

"National Pet Month is all about helping to educate pet owners about good pet welfare and ensuring our four-legged friends are happy and healthy," said 387 Vets practice manager Rachel Duncan.

"With social media being such a big phenomenon, we thought Facebook would be the perfect medium to share important considerations relating to this year's National Pet Month theme.

"We've tried to inject a bit of humour into our photos to capture people's attention, and it will be fun for clients to see us in a very different guise. But our real aim is to encourage people to think about basic pet welfare responsibilities."

Jobs vow as millions spent on big projects

MILLIONS of pounds have been spent on boosting Staffordshire's economy – and there is more to come, say community bosses.

An end-of-year summary by the county council celebrates the completion of the £6 million access work to open up 440,000 sq ft of space for up to 1,100 jobs at Liberty Park, Lichfield, and the linking of another 40,000 homes and businesses to the county's high-speed broadband network as part of the £30m Superfast Staffordshire project.

Mark Winnington, Staffordshire County Council's cabinet member for economy, environment and transport, said: "Delivering job-creating infrastructure for higher skilled jobs is one of our top priorities – it lets businesses take root and prosper and provide the jobs which are keeping Staffordshire in near-full employment."

As well as delivering access, including a road bridge over the West Coast Main Line at Liberty Park, other projects being developed by the county council are at Bericote Four Ashes in Meaford, near Stone, and Branston Locks near Burton.

Deserved

The projects are collectively expected to create 8,000 new jobs. French multinational Alstom is bringing two new developments to the £10.7m Redhill Industrial estate on the edge of Stafford, safeguarding 1,000 jobs, while the i54 South Staffordshire development is home to 1,600 workers – a figure expected to rise to 3,900 by 2020.

Councillor Winnington said: "We have a deserved reputation in this county for delivering multi-million pound projects such as industrial and hi-tech estates, better roads and improved broadband that benefit people in real, practical ways. But it's not just about helping new businesses take root and existing ones to prosper, we're focusing on the provision of skills and technical training so residents can take advantage of the skilled jobs being created."

Preparations are also under way for major road schemes like the Stafford Western Access Route.

Firm in £500k contract

Left, Unistrut purchasing manager Jason Burley, Briggs key account manager Mike Oseland, and Unistrut MD Carl Jones and senior buyer Tracey Ng

CANNOCK-BASED materials handling specialist Briggs Equipment has won a new £500,000 contract with Unistrut.

Part of Atkore International, Unistrut is a market-leading manufacturer and distributor of channel and prefabricated framing and cable management solutions for a wide variety of electrical, mechanical and industrial services applications.

At the core of the new materials handling fleet are eight Yale MR14 reach trucks. Also included in the deal are Combilift four-way articulated trucks. All of the new machines have been acquired on a five-year contract hire basis and will be deployed at Unistrut's headquarters in West Bromwich.

Unistrut's purchasing manager Jason Burley said: "We look forward to working with Briggs to achieve our goals." Briggs' key account manager Mike Oseland said: "We are delighted to be awarded this important contract."

Briggs Equipment will provide full service and maintenance support across the fleet

Teams wanted for charity golf day

Rotary members Mel Morgan Colin Sutton and Mel Wilton get in the swing for the golf day

THE Rotary Club of Cannock is looking for teams to take part in its annual charity golf day on Wednesday, June 15, at The Chase Golf, Health Club and Spa at Pottal Pool.

The event is very popular with local golfers, and a number of teams that took part last year have already entered this time around. Organisers are looking to increase the number of teams this year.

To register, email secretary@cannockrotary.co.uk or call 07446 816225 for more information.

The day is not just about 18 holes of golf as it also includes bacon rolls and coffee on arrival, a virtual par three competition on The Chase Golf Club's indoor simulator, a novelty putting competition and video analysis of players' swing on the first tee by the club's professional.

This is followed by an 18-hole team golf competition on the par 72 parkland course which will also include a free barbecue and drink at the halfway house. A three-course meal and entertainment will follow in the evening.

Entry is £250 per team of four with all proceeds going to charity. Last year's event raised £5000 which was donated to The End Polo Now campaign and this year the Rotary Club is hoping to raise a similar amount for Rotary charities both locally and internationally.

Mother in £11k theft of Boots cosmetics

A MOTHER-OF-TWO carried out a spree of cosmetics thefts, including taking almost £11,000 worth of stock from Boots stores in Cannock and Rugeley, a court heard.

By Jessica Labhart

Kelly Marie Hubbard, whose two young children are being cared for by her ex-partner's mother, pleaded guilty at Wolverhampton Magistrates Court to 14 charges of theft.

The thefts took place from the end of 2015 until March 14. Hubbard stole make-up to the total value of £10,855.48 from Boots in Cannock and Rugeley.

She also stole clothing worth £919.96 from TK Maxx in Wednesbury, and various items from Tesco Express in Great Wyrley, Wilkinson's in Rugeley and Sainsbury's in Walsall.

Hubbard, aged 36, of Margam Crescent, Mossley, near Bloxwich, was described as a 'prolific thief' by Mr Roger Bleazard, prosecuting.

Mr Bleazard said: "When you look at the list of her offences and her guilty record, we are not talking about small value thefts here, we are talking about a number of offences over a 12-month period." Hubbard, speaking via video link from Foston Hall where she spent two weeks in custody following her arrest, said: "I hate myself being like this.

"I just want to go back to being a mum. These last two weeks being in prison has made me realise I am too old for this, I hate it here. I used to be in and out of prison until I had my two girls."

Ms Seama Kapoor, defending, confirmed that at the time of the offences Hubbard was dependent on heroine.

She had started taking the drug again after her two girls had been taken away from her by social services.

Hubbard will be sentenced at Wolverhampton Crown Court on April 26.

Afternoon Tea at the Ritz

Enter the doors to one of the most famous hotels in London, to enjoy a very special experience.

Private afternoon tea will be served in either the Music room or Marie Antoinette Suite. A selection of three different types of loose leaf tea is offered, along with freshly cut sandwiches, served on a three tier stand.

These are followed by freshly cooked scones, strawberry preserve and clotted Devonshire cream plus a delectable choice of pastries.

In Piccadilly a visit is made to Fortnum & Mason, famed as the quintessential English store for over 300 years. The beautiful facades and window displays attract admirers from around the world and the inside of the store is very unique.

A stop is also made at Harrods in Knightsbridge, arguably the world's most famous luxury department store, made up of seven floors of exquisite collections across four and a half acres.

At St Pancras International enjoy a glass of champagne at Searcys Champagne bar, Europes longest at over 90 metres, and admire the surrounding architecture of the historic Victorian station.

Some free time in London is also on the itinerary of this short capital break.

Fundraiser at wildlife centre

STAFFORDSHIRE Wildlife Trust is inviting people to enjoy a cuppa and raise some money at its next popular coffee morning.

The trust, the county's largest nature conservation charity, is holding the event at its Wolseley Centre headquarters tomorrow from 10am until midday.

People can enjoy a hot drink and locally made cake during the event.

Jeff Brough from the trust's Cannock Local Group will also be on hand selling secondhand books. Sam Pachner, conference and events officer at the trust, said: "We had a really good turnout for our last coffee morning, and they always prove to be a really popular event.

"By coming along, buying refreshments and enjoying themselves, those who attend are helping local wildlife, as all profits from the coffee morning go towards our work across the county."

Admission is £1 which includes a hot drink. Call 01889 880100 or visit www.staffs-wildlife.org.uk/whats-on for details.

Fire service in fewer call-outs, figures show

THE number of fires, crashes and other call-outs attended by Staffordshire Fire and Rescue have fallen during the past 12 months.

Firefighters were called to a total of 1,892 incidents between January and March this year, compared with 2,052 during the same period in 2015. The figures include small fires, road accidents, false alarms and major jobs like the one at Astonfields Industrial Estate last month.

Chief fire officer Peter Dartford said: "We are in the position where we are continuing to drive down the demand for those things that create problems for our community.

"I am sure the positive spiral will continue into the future with the continued focus on prevention, which is better than cure."

There was also a small reduction in accidental dwelling fires this year compared with the same period in 2015.

Mr Dartford added: "I am really pleasing to report a reduction in accidental dwelling fires too. Those things that create trauma, loss and damage, death and injury is reducing year on year in this authority. And of course, that's no accident.

Difference

"The reason it is happening is because we are increasing the amount of investment and time in pro-active work in the community.

"Whilst I would never claim there's a direct correlation between our proactive work and that reduction I'm sure there is a relationship, because the more preventative work we do the less these things happen."

Mr Dartford will be replaced by Becci Bryant after he formally retires from the service on April 17 after 34 years' service.

She said Mr Dartford had made a 'phenomenal' difference but insisted she will 'bring my natural style to the role'. "I'm not going to turn into something I'm not," she said.

Flooded street 'is being forgotten'

Malcolm Jordan clears out the gulley at the back of his house

A PENSIONER says his street has been 'forgotten' by council bosses as he battles regular problems with flooding due to blocked drains and gulleys. Malcolm Jordan says he has contacted Staffordshire County Council 'numerous times' in the last four years about the drainage problems.

The 78-year-old, who has lived in Long Lane, Great Wyrley, for more than 30 years, says he had to work throughout the Easter weekend to keep the flooding at bay. He said: "It feels like we are the forgotten street in Staffordshire."

Aside from the gulley behind his house, a sewage drain at the front overflowed in recent heavy rain. Neighbour Robert Johnson said: "I moved in last May, made a complaint in November, and nothing has been done."

Great Wyrley councillor Janet Johnson said drains in the area were 'outdated'. County council cabinet member Mark Deaville said: "We are aware of this issue, and will be coming out to clean the two gullies on the adopted highway. The county council doesn't have responsibility for sewers."

Annual meeting

THE Annual Town Meeting for Hednesford is being held on Tuesday, April 19 at Pye Green Community Centre in Bradbury Lane, starting at 7pm. Town groups and organisations will present details of their activities over the last 12 months.

Bargains for readers

A CANNOCK church is inviting keen readers to attend their monthly mini market this weekend.

The event at St Stephen's Church, in Bideford Way, will see thousands of books on offer.

From old to new, all books are in good condition and all are at the price of 50p each.

It will take place on Saturday from 9.30am until 11.30am.

Other stalls include glass and jewellery, cakes, perfumed, clothes, toys, crockery and more.

Bogus callers alert after 'rats' claim

RESIDENTS in Cannock are being warned about bogus callers. Staffordshire Police have received reports of a man and woman visiting an address in Mosswood Street and gaining entry into the property saying they had received complaints about rats in the area.

Once inside the house they looked in every room before leaving in two separate cars, one red and one silver.

The man is described as white, about 5ft 8in, in his 40s and wearing a light grey suit and dark shoes. He was also said to have a lazy eye.

The woman is described as white, about 5ft 7in, 35, with a large build and was wearing a red top, black trousers and black shoes. The incident happened at 2pm on Thursday last week. Ash Connor, the force's neighbourhood watch liaison officer, said: "Local authorities are not aware of any such activity in the area and so residents are being warned to be on their guard."

Champion hopes as boxer to return

BOXER Anthony Joshua returns to a Cannock venue later this month – possibly as World Heavyweight Champion.

The 2102 Olympic superheavyweight gold medallist first appeared at Bar Sport's Premier Suite last September and returns by popular demand on April 27. Joshua challenges for the IBF World Heavyweight title from champion Charles Martin at the 02 Arena on Saturday night.

Back in 2012 he won the Super Heavyweight title at the Olympic Games and is red hot favourite with the bookies to become World Heavyweight Champion.

Scott Murray, owner of Bar Sport's Premier Suite, said: "He was a huge success last time and impressed everyone in what was his first after-dinner speaking event.

"He has agreed to come back again and this time I am confident he will come back as World Champion."

Ticket prices range between £75 and £299. For details call 01543 572092.

Staff praised but ambulance chief issues a warning

AMBULANCE service bosses in the West Midlands region have praised staff who have helped achieve the best response times in the country.

But they warned that they faced a challenge to keep standards so high after a difficult to start to 2016.

West Midlands Ambulance Service reached patients in life-threatening situations quicker than anywhere else in the 12 months to February.

Ambulances reached people in life-threatening conditions – known as Red 1 and Red 2 patients – within the eight-minute target in 77.2 per cent of cases, beating the 75 per cent target. But the impressive statistics took a hit during January and February when performance levels dipped.

Concerns were also raised about reaching people in rural areas, with response times much higher in parts of Shropshire and Worcestershire. The number of calls the ambulance service responded to also rose by almost 14 per cent during the period.

Tony Murrell, non-executive director at West Midlands Ambulance Service, told the latest board meeting: "We are by far the best in the country.

Response

"However, it would be remiss of me not to say the last two months have been challenging – January and February have been challenging. There are still concerns over performance in regional areas."

Chief executive Anthony Marsh accepted there was still work to be done but hailed staff who had put the service top of the pile nationally in terms of ambulance response times.

He said: "West Midlands Ambulance Service is the only service to achieve every single national access target and on each of those targets we are the best performers.

"I would like to thank everyone who has helped us reach that achievement, it doesn't happen by accident."

Mr Marsh also reiterated his desire for the Red 2 targets to be abolished.

Red 1 patients are those who have suffered cardiac arrest or stopped breathing, and Red 2 patients those in any other life-threatening situation.

He said: "We have got to have schemes in place to improve Red 1 performance. On Red 2 it is a rabbit hole I don't want to go down. I am pushing for the eight-minute target to be abolished."

Campaign on potholes

David Clifft has started a Facebook campaign over the potholes problem

A CAMPAIGN has been launched to crack down on fly-tipping and potholes in a Staffordshire village.

Essington councillor David Clifft is urging people to report the problems to him as he collects evidence to present to the county council.

It comes after he said residents have reported a number of cases where damage has been caused to their cars by potholes, with the cost running into thousands of pounds.

He labelled the state of Essington's roads as 'disgusting' and is now encouraging people to contact him with pictures and information through his Facebook page. He also wants people to report any instances of fly-tipping so action can be taken.

Councillor Clifft, said: "I know it is bad everywhere, but it is pretty bad in Essington. We have had thousands of pounds worth of damage caused to vehicles, particularly those with alloy wheels."

Councillor Clifft said that in one case, a pothole has been reported on High Hill, with a depth of 12in and a 2ft circumference.

"The council have said, if I can provide evidence, people will be able to claim, which will go some way to pleasing people," he added."

Council sets out its ambition for 3,500 new jobs

A PLAN which sets out the vision for growth has been approved by council chiefs.

Growing the region's economy, helping create more jobs and opportunities for local people, and helping volunteers and communities are the key ambitions for South Staffordshire Council over the next four years.

The council has set out what it wants to achieve by 2020 in its Council Plan.

A key part of the plan is supporting and growing the local economy. This includes plans to help create 3,500 jobs in the area over the next four years, and in the first year of the plan support 200 vulnerable working age people to either gain work, volunteer or receive education and training.

The plan was formally agreed at a meeting of the full council in Codsall.

Council leader Councillor Brian Edwards said: "South Staffordshire is a district with tremendous opportunity, and our new Council Plan takes full advantage.

"By attracting more businesses and giving local people the skills they need to take advantage of newly-created jobs, we can build upon recent successes like i54, and really benefit the local workforce."

PM's award for student's £100k charity support

A STUDENT who has raised £100,000 for charity has been named a Point of Light by Prime Minister David Cameron.

Samrick Singh Bahia, from Essington, raised the cash for Delete Blood Cancer after being diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukaemia.

The 22-year-old, who is studying business at the University of Worcester, is the latest recipient of a Point of Light award, which recognises outstanding individual volunteers, people who are making a change in their community and inspiring others. Each day, someone, somewhere in the country is selected to receive the award to celebrate their remarkable achievements.

Samrick, who is the 507th winner of the award, said: "I am very grateful for this award and will keep trying to raise more awareness and money." Samrick was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukaemia during his second year of university.

He had been a keen rugby player and active students' union member, but his life was put on hold while he went through a year of intense chemotherapy in 2013, followed by regular precautionary treatment.

Children's centres' joy after successful first six months

TWO children's centres in Burntwood saved from closure by 'parent power' are celebrating six months of success.

By James Fisher

The centres at Boney Hay and Springhill schools were facing the axe until a group of mothers and grandparents started a petition to save them.

Staffordshire County Council first earmarked the two centres for closure a year ago but after the community rallied behind them, both were taken over as a social enterprise.

County Councillor Sue Woodward lobbied for an extension, which was approved and gave Esther Allen and a group of friends six months to come up with alternative plans.

Milestone

The Spark group was formed in September to give parents and grandparents the chance to run the centres themselves.

Spark director Mrs Allen said: "We've done everything from funding the leases, sorting running costs, sourcing resources and organising activities.

"We've reached an important milestone in being open six months and we are so pleased all of the services that were available when it was a children's centre have been maintained," Mrs Allen added.

"Not only that but we are growing all the time, with extra activities and groups being added every month.

"It's been a steep learning curve for the four directors as we had never been involved in a voluntary community organisation before, let alone running the two centres, while we are also doing our 'day jobs' of nurse, teacher, social worker and accountant.

"But it's been fantastic to see the centres so busy and well used by families and it makes all the hard work worthwhile."

Spark's main aim was to create useful community hubs with a range of activities and services available for the whole area.

Search for explosives draws blank

A SWEEP of a building estate in Burntwood where two bombs were found has uncovered no more explosives.

Barratt Homes and Taylor Wimpey are building 351 homes on the land off Milestone Way.

The search comes after an unexploded device was found at the end during development works on an adjacent industrial site on the same piece of land.

This followed a single mortar bomb being discovered.

A spokesperson on behalf of Barratt Homes and Taylor Wimpey said: "A specialist investigator is in the process of carrying out a full inspection of the site using electromagnetic detection equipment."

The site was once the home of ES Smith, a firm that recovered war scrap, including weaponry.

Bands ready to do battle

UP and coming bands are being invited to take part in an annual competition in Lichfield.

The Battle of the Bands event, aimed at musicians aged below 21, is giving the opportunity to win a slot at the Fuse Festival in Beacon Park on July 9.

Heat night will be held on April 23. To apply, get in touch with pam.beale@lichfieldarts.org.uk

Developer in £25,000 sport deal

A £25,000 sponsorship deal by Cameron Homes, aimed at encouraging more girls to take part in sport, is proving to be successful.

The Chasetown-based building company joined with Score UK last year to promote handball in secondary schools – starting with several in Cannock and Sutton Coldfield.

Among the first schools taking part in the initiative is Cardinal Griffin Catholic High School in Cannock.

Ian Burns, managing director of Cameron Homes, said: "We are pleased to see that more and more girls are taking up handball as a sport.

"Cameron are delighted to support the programme and provide on-going opportunities for an often under-represented group within our community."

Extension planned for reception at dentists

PLANNING applications received by Lichfield District Council include:

Chase Dental Care, Salters Meadow Health Centre, Rugeley Road, Chase Terrace – single-storey front extension to form waiting room, surgery and reception area; installation of an illuminated fascia sign.

Chasetown Garage and MOT Centre, Unit 9, Burntwood Business Park Zone 3, Smiths Close, Burntwood – change of use from B8 to B2 to enable installation of an MOT bay.

Unit 4, New Road, Burntwood – change of use from offices to residential comprising bedroom lounge shower room kitchen and store.

41 Lichfield Road, Armitage – demolition of existing dwelling and erection of two three-bedroom detached bungalows with detached single garages and associated works.

White Cottage, Chapel Lane, Gentleshaw – demolition of garage and erection of two-storey rear extension to form kitchen, WC, utility, breakfast area, bedrooms and en suite.

Veecare Ltd, Loughton Court, 99-101 Trent Valley Road, Lichfield – change of use from care home (C2) to three dwelling houses (C3).

Comments must be received by April 19.

"The Supertracker wheel aligner has become the preferred choice of alignment equipment by a wide range of vehicle manufacturers."

Funeral Directors

The Independent, Family-owned Firm of Funeral Directors

Amid the confusion of bereavement we provide calmness, order and a sense of dignity, so that life, as it must, can go on with hope for the future, as well as respect for the past.

At times of bereavement we have served the local communities in and around this area since 1866. We personally know many of the families we have assisted. Whatever the time of day or night, we have given them the sympathy, advice and help they have needed.

Only an independent family firm, we believe, with its roots in the community, can offer this service with understanding and commitment.

Shakespeare in a rock 'n' roll riot

Oliver Dimsdale (Toby Belch), Jonathan Broadbent (Orsino) and Syreeta Kumar (Olivia) in Filter's version of Twelfth Night

FOLLOWING a run in New York and an extensive tour of India, Filter Theatre mark 400 years since William Shakespeare's death by bringing their critically-acclaimed production of Twelfth Night to Birmingham Repertory Theatre from Tuesday to Saturday, April 16.

This story of romance, satire and mistaken identity is crafted into one of the more exciting and accessible Shakespeare productions of recent years. Olivia's puritanical household clashes head on with Sir Toby Belch's insatiable appetite for drunken debauchery as the deluded Malvolio has an extraordinary transformation in this new take on the classic play

Originally commissioned by the Royal Shakespeare Company's former artistic director Michael Boyd as part of their Complete Works Festival, Filter's characteristically radical and riotous interpretation reaffirms their reputation as one of the most inventive theatre companies.

They promise that no two shows will be the same with decisions taken on the hoof as the narrative unfolds each night. In this informal production the stage is covered in cables, technical equipment, amplifiers and musical instruments that enable Filter to create the play in what promises to be more akin to a rock concert than classic theatre.

You'll believe in a Miracle

MASTER of illusion Derren Brown is bringing his latest show, Miracle, to Wolverhampton Grand Theatre to amaze and baffle audiences.

Previous shows Svengali and Infamous have left packed venues stunned. This will be his seventh production since 2003 but the award-winning showman, who uses psychology to create the illusion of supernatural powers, is giving few clues on what to expect this time.

"As ever, I ask people to keep the contents of the show a secret," says the two-time Olivier Award winner.

"But I can certainly say that this show has a more philosophical flavour and looks at ways of thinking that may make us happier.

" In some ways it's the boldest, most contentious show yet. But audiences are responding well to it and I just love doing it — it's quite a rollercoaster."

Having performed to one and a half million people over 13 years, Croydon-born Brown says the magic genre can continue to break boundaries.

"Magic is a very childish thing at heart: the quickest, most fraudulent route to impressing people. It's based in dishonesty. So you have to work harder to make it have artistic merit or relevance.

"I am often dishonest in my techniques but I'm always honest about my dishonesty."

Miracle will be at the Grand from Monday to Saturday, April 16.

Top of the Pops with The Rezillos

A BAND that put a smile on the faces of New Wave fans back in the 70s are back, as Scottish outfit The Rezillos have a gig at Wolverhampton's Slade Rooms tomorrow night (Friday).

Still fronted by Fay Fife and Eugene Reynolds, the band lit up the punk era with their day-glo blend of 60s-inspired sci-fi rock 'n' roll with such songs as Top Of The Pops and Flying Saucer Attack, before mutating into The Revillos.

That's the same night that rising star Jack Garratt has sold-out the O2 Institute in Birmingham. The Digbeth venue will also have a full house for Pvris on Saturday and Funeral For A Friend on Wednesday.

Movie music night with Oscar winner

HOLLYWOOD'S most in-demand composer, Hans Zimmer, is coming to Birmingham's Barclaycard Arena on Tuesday for one of only two UK shows.

The German-born musician has composed the soundtracks to blockbusters such as Inception, Interstellar, The Dark Knight Trilogy, Gladiator, 12 Years a Slave, The Lion King, Pirates of the Caribbean and many more. Zimmer's studio band will be appearing with Lebo M, known for his vocals on Zimmer's Academy Award-winning score for Disney's The Lion King, as well as an orchestra and choir, with over 70 musicians on stage.

Zappa guitarist in special tribute gig

A PUNK diva plus tributes to a glam rock legend and two of rock's great mavericks will feature at Bilston's Robin 2 venue.

New Wave 80s star Hazel O'Connor, whose movie Breaking Glass provided hit singles Eighth Day and the poignant Will You, teams up with former Belle Stars saxophonist Claire Hirst at the Mount Pleasant venue tonight (Thursday).

T Rextasy take fans back to the 70s heyday of Marc Bolan on Saturday and on Sunday the Muffin Men pay tribute to Frank Zappa and Captain Beefheart's Magic Band with Zappa/Beefheart guitarist Denny Walley AKA Feelers Rebo.

Britain's Got Talent (ITV, 7pm)

New series. Simon Cowell, Amanda Holden, Alesha Dixon and David Walliams take their seats on the judges' panel as the nationwide variety talent show returns for its tenth series, giving another crop of would-be comedians, contortionists, street-dance outfits and all-round entertainers a chance to wow the all-star panel - and the viewers at home – with their most prized skills. This year, the contest looks set to feature as wide a variety of acts as ever, including a one-man band on stilts, puppetry, archery and an orchestra with a twist, and Simon has promised that the winner will receive not only a £250,000 cash prize and a place in the Royal Variety Show, but also a 'special surprise' he has described as 'priceless'.

6.10 Can't Touch This. A karate instructor, a would-be Red Coat, and a baker from Armagh with a terrible sense of direction are among the 16 contestants battling their way through a giant obstacle course filled with prizes that are just out of reach. If the competitors are able to lay hands on any of the goodies within, they can take them home, including a grand prize that requires a giant leap of faith to claim. Presented by Zoe Ball and Ashley Banjo, with narration by Sue Perkins.

7.00 The Voice UK. This year's contest draws to a close as the four most successful contestants take to the stage one last time in the grand final. Having progressed through seven weeks of blind auditions, two battle rounds, two knockout stages and two live shows, the would-be stars face the ultimate test of their vocal abilities, with the winner earning themselves a recording contract. Superstar coaches Will.i.am, Ricky Wilson, Paloma Faith and Boy George perform together one final time as fans at home cast their votes to determine which would-be pop icon will claim the title of The Voice UK 2016. Last in the series.

9.00 Casualty. Jacob enlists an unlikely ally to help him track down a dangerous drug dealer, and Big Mac becomes increasingly reliant on painkillers. Medical drama, starring Charles Venn.

7.30 Golf: The Masters Live. Hazel Irvine introduces coverage of the third day from the Augusta National in Georgia, as the opening Major of the year continues. While conditions on this famous course are notoriously difficult, Jordan Speith made light of such matters last year on his way to winning his first Major, establishing a new Masters record for the lowest 54-hole score, and helping himself to a four-shot lead over Justin Rose in the process. While Speith hasn't been quite at his best in the early part of this year, the American is still among the favourites, with the European charge led by former world number one Rory McIlroy. With commentary by Peter Alliss, Ken Brown and Andrew Cotter. Subsequent programmes subject to change.

12.00 Film: The Mummy. (1959) An ancient Egyptian priest returns to life to kill those who have desecrated the 4,000-year-old sacred tomb of a princess. Leanne Best

Undercover (BBC1, 9pm)

Maya's fight for justice becomes a serious threat to the establishment, setting out to bring shocking secrets to light. Nick is consumed with guilt as he recalls his time as an undercover police officer, and his infiltration of an anti-racist organisation led to his first meeting with his wife. When a violent incident erupted during a march and one of the leading activists was attacked, Nick was left struggling to reconcile his feelings for Maya and his loyalty to the police force he serves, but has begun to question. Sophie Okonedo, Adrian Lester, Tamara Lawrence, Daniel Ezra, Shannon Hayes, Vincent Regan, Alistair Petrie, Mark Bonnar, Derek Riddell, Clare Holman, Adrian Schiller and Leanne Best star.

Michael Portillo sets off from Newcastle on the final leg of his journey from Derby to Lindisfarne, finding out about the world's earliest swing bridge and its inventor William Armstrong. He also travels by boat from the port of Seahouses to examine the story of lighthouse keeper's daughter Grace Darling, who, along with her father, rescued nine people from tumultuous seas in 1838. On the Holy Island of Lindisfarne, Michael explores the lime kilns and finds out how Christianity spread from here across northern England in the 7th century. (R)

6.30 Golf: The Masters Live. Hazel Irvine introduces coverage of the fourth and final day from the Augusta National in Georgia, as the opening Major of the year reaches a conclusion. Jordan Speith started the final day four shots ahead of his nearest rival last year and showed no signs of any nerves affecting his game, eventually holding that advantage ahead of Phil Mickelson and Justin Rose, who were tied for second. Speith also equalled the lowest 72-hole total for the Masters and set the record for the most birdies for the week, confirming his rise to fame and clinching his first Major. Rose finished as the highest-placed European, with fellow Englishmen Ian Poulter and Paul Casey also in the top 10, along with Northern Ireland's Rory McIlroy and Hideki Matsuyama of Japan. Thriller, starring Woody Harrelson, Emily Mortimer, Kate Mara and Ben Kingsley. (2008)

There's more to the new case than meets the eye

It's been an incredible year for Suranne Jones. The actress, who first rose to fame as the feisty Karen McDonald in Coronation Street, had the nation hooked with her performance as a woman scorned in the BBC drama Doctor Foster, which earned her a National TV Award and a recent Bafta nomination.

And if that wasn't enough, she also gave birth to her first child last month.

However, any worries that new motherhood would keep her off our screens for a while can be put to rest, as this week she returns in a new three-part special of police drama Scott & Bailey.

It's a project that is close to Suranne's heart – not only did the series give her the role of hot-headed Manchester detective Rachel Bailey, the actress also conceived the idea for the series with her former Corrie co-star Sally Lindsay (who is also returning in the role of Rachel's sister Alison).

The characters of Bailey and her more level-headed colleague Janet Scott (Lesley Sharp) were then developed by award-winning writer Sally Wainwright, who has since gone on to create another acclaimed series about a complicated female cop, Happy Valley.

Over the course of the previous four series, we've seen Scott and Bailey tackle all manner of grisly crimes, while also dealing with their turbulent personal lives, but we're promised that while it may be shorter than usual, this new fifth series is going to test them more than ever.

Executive producer Nicola Shindler says: "We're delighted to be returning to Scott & Bailey with an investigation that will have everlasting consequences for the characters. This series is more ambitious and sinister than ever before and the concept of a three-part story allows us the opportunity to tackle a story of epic scale and ambition."

As regular viewers will remember, the last series ended with the retirement of DCI Gill Murray – and following a 12-month secondment to Vice, Rachel is back in Syndicate 9 and ready to step up to the challenge of becoming acting DI.

Janet is glad to have her mate back, even if she does feel that their friendship has been somewhat neglected – Rachel definitely lost some points when she failed to respond to a text about Janet breaking up with her boyfriend.

The bonding may have to wait though, as the cops look into the gruesome murder of Michael Edgerton. Rachel leads the investigation under the watchful eye of Julie Dodson (Pippa Haywood), but they're not the only ones taking an interest in the case, as a teenage boy watches a clip of the crime on the 'dark net.' It becomes clear that a game is being played – and Syndicate 9 need to find the next victim before the killer does.

Meanwhile, Janet is thrown into turmoil when Taisie (Harriet Waters) is arrested, and for once it looks like Rachel's going to have to use her wisdom and experience to help her friend, rather than the other way around.

BEST OF THE REST

MONDAY
Into the Wild with Gordon Buchanan
BBC2, 6.30pm
New series. The film-maker reveals the extent of Scotland's wildlife, taking well-known faces on an adventure in which they observe some of the UK's most iconic species. In the first programme Gordon is joined by Alastair Campbell for a trip to the Western Isles, including the Isle of Mull, where Gordon grew up, and Tiree, where Alastair spent much of his childhood. The pair go in search of elusive otters and discover an unconventional way of attracting seals, while also getting up close with sea eagles and puffins.

TUESDAY
Drive
ITV, 9pm
While we wait for the re-launched Top Gear and Jeremy Clarkson's rival motor show on Amazon, Vernon Kay is doing a fine job of keeping petrolheads happy with this gas-guzzling challenge. Once more he puts eight celebrity racing rookies, including Professor Green, Johnny Vegas and Angus Deayton, through their paces. This time they have to contend with extreme off-road buggies, and tackle and a supersized obstacle course. The two at the back of the pack then face a fight for survival in the Night Race, with the slowest eliminated from the competition

WEDNESDAY
Tonight at the London Palladium
ITV, 8pm
New series. Actor and presenter Bradley Walsh entertains audiences at the Palladium with a variety show featuring stars from music and comedy, as well as a host of speciality acts from around the world. The first edition's line-up of confirmed guests includes Italian classical tenor Andrea Bocelli, singer-songwriter Birdy, and Irish comedian Tommy Tiernan. Plus, there is music from the West End with the cast of Motown the Musical, and a jaw-dropping performance by motorcycle stunt show, The Globe of Death.

Five Star Babies: Inside the Portland Hospital
BBC2, 9pm
An exclusive glimpse inside the UK's only private maternity hospital, where women from Victoria Beckham to the Duchess of York have paid a premium for the ultimate pampered birth. This edition reveals how Portland Hospital's consultants, midwives, chefs and cleaners serve parents, including high-society 'It Girl' Hui, who admits she is afraid of giving birth naturally. Scottish nurse Pat insists that she is not star struck but 'baby struck' as she looks after the newborns of celebrities and royalty, and the Countess of Bradford reveals the impact of her career as a consultant on her social life.

Drive, Tuesday, ITV, 9pm

THURSDAY
Bargain Shop Wars
ITV, 8.30pm
New series. Behind the scenes of Britain's newest bargain chain store, fashion retailer Pep&Co, following staff on both the shop floor and at head office as they take on and try to undercut the big names of the discount fashion world and become the cheapest on the high street. The first episode follows last summer's launch, when £20million was spent in a high-risk rollout of 50 shops across the country. In Corby, shop manager Sue attracts an unexpected visit from a rival, while at head office, a decision is made to ditch the homeware range in favour of a menswear line.

FRIDAY
Henry VIII and His Six Wives
Channel 5, 8pm
New series. A dramatic story in English history, told for the first time from the duelling perspectives of historians Suzannah Lipscomb and Dan Jones. This first episode focuses on Katherine of Aragon and Anne Boleyn. For Henry's first love Katherine, this failure to bear a son began an escalating series of events that tested her dignity, her integrity, her faith and her love for her husband. Anne was intelligent, sophisticated and above all ambitious. She and the Henry fell in love and together began to plot Katherine's downfall.

Boomers
BBC1, 9.30pm
Mick returns from his Spanish paradise, minus his young Russian wife. Nigel Planer stars, with Philip Jackson, Alison Steadman, Russ Abbot and Stephanie Beacham.

Bathing beauty – the Roman Baths with their steaming water and a maze of spa rooms

Modern spa resort with views of Bath Abbey

Claim to fame – the magnificent Royal Crescent is just one of Bath's many architectural jewels

Elegant opulence – Grove Lodge in Bath

Enjoy a relaxing weekend in Bath with lots of attractions on tap

A GOOD word from Bill Bryson can make or break a tourist attraction. So imagine the sighs of relief among the powers-that-be at Bath's Roman Baths when the travel writer came to the conclusion that he quite liked them.

By Mark Drew

In fact Bill didn't just like this example of living, flowing, history, he loved it. So much so that he agreed to record his musings as he went to explore.

The result is one of the most absorbing guided tours you are ever likely to find. Yes, it involves grasping an outsized mobile phone to your ear, but it's worth the time and trouble to listen and, contrary to expectations, makes the experience more intimate and real.

In fact there are three commentaries to choose from, the wry observations of Bill to the expert word of TV historian Alice Roberts and finally a charming simplified version for children.

The Roman Baths, with its steaming waters and fascinating maze of ancient spa rooms, is the obvious place to start. It places Bath's origins within the context of its relatively more recent past. And, as Bryson himself observes, the rooftop view it affords of the baths, cast in the shadow of Bath Abbey and enveloped by the sandstone city, is really something to behold.

Bill would, no doubt, also thoroughly approve of Bath's Grove Lodge, a luxury bed and breakfast an easy 20-minute stroll from the centre of the city and my stay for the weekend. Owners Giovanni and Mary Baiano took it over a couple of years ago and have transformed it into a laid-back but incredibly stylish resting place.

Appropriately, a Roman bust greets you as you arrive. There are three spacious suites, Georgian, Roman and Chinese. Set in an imposing Georgian town house, guests are treated to their own suite and are delivered a five-star breakfast on a silver tray.

Rugby

Grove Lodge sits opposite Bath Rugby Club's training ground. This is a city where the locals live and breathe rugby. This season has been a disappointment by Bath's standards. But it remains a sport uniting a city that, despite the melting pot of nationalities caused by the influx of tourists, has a feeling of community.

Bath's centre is relatively small, which makes it ideally suited to exploring on foot. There are lots of architectural landmarks in this city, tucked into a valley around 12 miles from Bristol. The magnificent Royal Crescent is Britain's most famous row of terraces. It sits close to Royal Victoria Park, where families picnic in the summer and that boasts one of the country's best playgrounds.

A five-minute stroll takes you The Circus, another example of Georgian splendour where you can wander as Jane Austen once did. And Bath Abbey is just splendid.

Bath's Achilles heel used to be food. In a city with two universities it lacked culinary breadth. That has changed in recent years and today there are endless places to eat and to match all budgets.

And, if you want to spend the day as Bathonians used to, the Thermae Bath Spa allows you to eat a light lunch in your fluffy white robe before a steam room sweat or a swim in its spectacular rooftop pool.

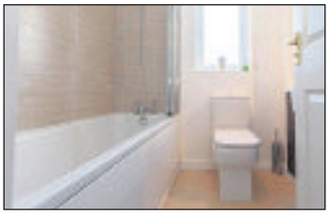
Superbly enlarged home on great cul-de-sac plot



THIS extended family home in Stephenson Way, Hednesford, has been finished to a very high standard and has generous accommodation.

On a corner plot in a popular cul-de-sac, it is for sale through Webbs at £245,000.

It has a reception hall with stairs off, a guest WC, a lounge with French doors to the orangery/room with an insulated pitched roof and sky lights, an extended breakfast kitchen with Velux windows, an extensive range of units with granite work surface over, an integrated double oven, four ring induction hob, integrated fridge-freezer and dishwasher, tiled flooring, breakfast island and space for a dining table.

There is a first-floor master bedroom with extensive wardrobes and an en-suite shower room, two further bedrooms and a modern bathroom with a bath and shower and cupboard units.

Outside, a driveway leads to a garage and a garden with a paved patio area, attractive lawn and shrub borders.

For further details, contact the estate agents Webbs on 01543 468846.

Anyone interested in the property can also visit the website at www.webbsestateagents.co.uk

WOODLANDS, CRAKEMARSH HALL, UTTOXETER

Occupying a fabulous and mature garden plot in the grounds of the Crakemarsh Hall development is this luxurious modern mansion. The property was built to a very high standard in 1999 and provides highly impressive architecture and design on a beautiful 0.8 acre plot. This is one of five distinctive homes set in lovely landscaped gardens with large living spaces making this an ideal family home. The property briefly comprises: - two reception rooms, kitchen with breakfasting room, visitor cloaks and WC, to the first floor are four bedrooms all with private bathrooms, the master suite having a sitting room and balcony and finally a nursery/study room all with fantastic views. Early viewing highly recommended for the discerning purchaser.

New Impreza is unveiled

By James Parker

Subaru has unveiled the all-new 2017 Impreza sedan and hatchback ahead of the New York International Auto Show.

The first model to be underpinned by Subaru's advanced new Global Platform architecture, the new Impreza is engineered to deliver significantly higher levels of driving pleasure, agility, crash protection and ride comfort. The Subaru Global Platform will underpin a variety of upcoming Subaru vehicles, including hybrids and the next generation of Subaru's supremely capable, all-terrain SUV and crossover models.

As before, every Impreza is equipped as standard with Symmetrical All-Wheel Drive, which maximises driving agility, stability and traction on all surfaces, and gives the car a key advantage over front-wheel drive competitors.

The all new 2017 Impreza 5-door hatchback is currently under consideration for the European market.

Subaru's new design language puts the brand's signature hexagonal grille and 'hawk-eye' headlights onto a more sculptural body, its athletic stance accentuated by prominent wheel arches and flowing lines. The dramatic new look carries into the cabin, with an 'outward-flow' design that echoes that of the front of the car.

The 2017 Impreza rides on a 2,670 mm wheelbase, up 25 mm compared to the current-generation Impreza, while overall length is up 41 mm and width increases by 38 mm. The larger dimensions create a roomier cabin, while a 10 mm lower height aids aerodynamics with a lower coefficient of drag.

Although sleeker in appearance than the previous models, the 2017 Impreza preserves excellent all-around visibility.

Subaru's hallmark technologies – four-cylinder horizontally-opposed 'Boxer' engines, Symmetrical All-Wheel Drive (AWD) and the EyeSight driver safety assist system – join the new Subaru Global Platform in providing the core foundations of next-generation of Subaru vehicles. Set to form the basis of all future Subaru models, the highly-adaptable platform is suitable for a range of different body styles and powertrains, including Subaru's all-terrain crossover and SUV models.

The Impreza's new platform incorporates several types of high-strength steel to significantly enhance straight-line stability, agility and ride comfort, while suppressing noise, vibration and harshness to a degree not seen in the compact class. Specifically, the new platform increases rigidity of the unitised body structure by over 70 percent compared to the current Impreza model.

A lower centre of gravity and revised suspension systems contribute to the biggest-ever leap forward in Subaru's dynamic capabilities.

The double-wishbone independent rear suspension mounts its rear stabiliser bar directly to the body, reducing body roll by 50 percent.

Greater hazard-avoidance capability is another benefit of the Subaru Global Platform. In addition, resolute straight-line stability makes the 2017 Impreza more relaxing to drive and is also an important constituent of the autonomous driving.

Verso putting safety first

Toyota's flexible, family-friendly Verso MPV has been given a substantial safety upgrade with a package of Toyota Safety Sense active safety and driver assistance features being added to the standard specification of every model.

It's part of a refresh for 2016 that includes a revised grade structure, new alloy wheel designs and a clutch of detail changes in the cabin. Prices start at £18,120.

Verso's Toyota Safety Sense benefits include a pre-collision system that recognises an imminent impact with a vehicle ahead, triggering a warning to the driver and priming the brakes for extra stopping power the moment the brake pedal is pressed. If the driver fails to respond, autonomous emergency braking is activated, automatically slowing the vehicle to reduce the force of any impact.

Verso further gains automatic high beam, which maintains excellent forward visibility when driving at night. It detects both the headlights of oncoming vehicles, and the tail lights of vehicles ahead, automatically switching between high and low beams to avoid dazzling other drivers.

The third Toyota Safety Sense element for Verso is lane departure alert. This monitors lane markings on the road and helps prevent accidents and head-on collisions caused by a vehicle drifting out of its lane. If the vehicle starts to deviate from its lane without the turn indicators being used, the system alerts the driver with visual and audible warnings.

These features are in addition to Verso's proven active and passive safety provisions, from its strong body construction, designed to absorb and channel impact forces away from the cabin, to the seven airbags, ABS, emergency brakeforce distribution, brake assist, traction control and vehicle stability control that all come as standard.

Verso is available in a new Design trim, alongside the established Active, Icon and Excel specifications.

Available with the 1.8-litre Valvematic petrol engine with automatic transmission and the 1.6-litre D-4D diesel, it comes with the Toyota Touch 2 with Go multimedia system with satellite navigation and reversing camera, rear privacy glass and a (fixed) panoramic roof. These are in addition to the standard features of Icon grade, including DAB tuner, dusk-sensing headlights, cruise control, automatic air conditioning, six-speaker audio and power windows front and rear.

At the top of the range, Excel models gain the panoramic roof, rain-sensing wipers, auto-dimming rear-view mirror, high-intensity discharge headlights and combination leather and cloth upholstery.

Family-friendly Verso MPV has been given a substantial safety upgrade with a package of Toyota Safety Sense active safety and driver assistance features

Icon, Design and Excel versions of Verso can be specified with an optional, high-value family pack that provides two rear seatback screens with integrated DVD players and leather seat upholstery (first and second row seats) for £1,995. Other entertainment system combinations are available as stand-alone options, including permutations of master and slave DVD screens and single or double iPad docks.

New alloy wheel designs feature on the 2016 Verso – 16-inch for Icon, 17-inch for Design and 17-inch with a double-spoke arrangement for Excel, with an anthracite dark grey finish. The colour choices include a new platinum bronze shade.

In the cabin there is a new leather-trimmed steering wheel with integrated switches for hands-free phone use and other functions. a new gear shift design and a new-look cloth upholstery for Icon and Design models. To free up more boot space, the tyre repair kit (when specified) has been relocated to the underfloor storage compartment behind the driver's seat.

The Toyota Touch 2 system adopts a larger, seven-inch display and, where sat nav is specified, an improved interface for easier, more intuitive operation.

A4 Avant is bigger, lighter and quieter

By John Griffiths

Don't be deceived by appearances – there IS a new Audi on the road, even if it takes an experienced eye to tell the 2016 A4 Avant from its predecessor,

In fact, this latest estate version of the popular compact executive car is all new – new platform, new powertrains, and new technology.

It's bigger, a lot lighter and quieter – three areas in which it goes to the top of its class – as well as being up to 21 per cent more fuel efficient.

So why, when you have what is essentially an all-new car, hasn't Audi done more with the external styling? Well several reasons spring to mind, not least the incredibly strong brand image the company has with buyers – one look and you (and everyone else) knows what it is and what it means.

There have been some tweaks, not least of which is improved aerodynamics: yes it looks particularly sporty by estate standards but the real reason behind that shape is to reduce drag and therefore fuel consumption. That's particularly true of the test car, a 2.0 litre turbo diesel Ultra Sport with 148bh), the most economical of the new Avant family. It sits lower on its standard sports suspension as a further means of reducing drag, plus it's fitted with low rolling resistance tyres. It's also one of the more affordable Avant models at £30,815, in a range which runs from £27,300 to £40,350.

One of Audi's headline selling points for the new A4 Avant is it's class-leading position in the space race, against the opposition. It has 505 litres of cargo space with five people on board, rising to a whopping 1,510 litres if the rear seats are folded down. Since estates are all about practicality, an electrically operated tailgate and retractable load cover are standard. There is also significantly more head and shoulder room for those in the front, while three adults shouldn't be much of a squeeze in the back.

As well as a new platform, the Avant has a range of reworked engines and transmissions, including a six-speed manual and two auto options, designed to increase efficiency. The 148bhp test car's official figure (according to lab tests) is 70.6mpg which equates to a low CO2 rating of 104g/km and a benefit in kind liability of 18 per cent – both impressive figures for the business user aiming to keep their tax liability down. My 'real world' test produced a still very acceptable figure of 55mpg.

As the lowest powered version of the new Avant, the test car's acceleration of 0 to 62mph in 9.2 seconds is still far from sluggish. It pulls strongly from low revs, but, with a car designed for economy, the cruising ratios are relatively high and you need to change down for quick A-road overtaking.

The second dividend is that, combined with the sports suspension standard on Ultra models, the Avant's handling is sharper, with a quicker 'turn in' with dynamics which wouldn't disgrace a sports saloon.

Warning

Another fuel-saving and comfort aid is the optional 'predictive efficiency' computer system, which uses satnav data to warn you in advance of, for example, bends and traffic signs which might not yet be visible. You can then slow gently, avoiding hard last minute braking and acceleration which have a cost in fuel (and ride cofort for passengers).

The test car was fitted with Audi's proven 'Drive Select' system which allows you to configure the throttle response and weighting of the steering to half a dozen settings, including dynamic, comfort and efficiency. I found that, for the majority of the time, the 'auto' setting was just right although improved damping in the 'comfort' setting did actually improve ride quality on some of our bumpier b-roads.

The test car was fitted with the optional (for £1,510) leather and alcantara upholstery, which is hard-wearing and further improved the ambience of the already light and airy interior.

The dash and centre console exude quality, and are clear and uncluttered despite the plethora of modern systems packed into this particular A4.

Many secondary functions (media, radio, Drive Select and so on) are control by a couple of chunky switches and a rotary 'mouse) which falls easy to hand in conjunction with the large central display screen. There are also repeat controls on the steering wheel.

The adaptive cruise control on the steering column can be operated with one finger and is far more practical in today's traffic conditions than an older 'cruise only' system. It keeps you a safe distance from vehicles in front, braking and accelerating to your set speed as necessary and when conditions allow. I found it a useful, and relaxing, driver aid particularly on motorways.

The central screen is also Audi's latest multi-media interface, first seen on the upmarket A6 and A8 models, running the audio and connectivity systems. The driver and front passenger and individual air conditioning controls, and even those in the rear can set their own climate.

There is a full range of safety systems, which combined with the new A4's basic construction and materials earned it a maximum EuroNCAP safety rating.

With its class-leading load space, the new A4 Avant passes the practicality test for a modern estate car without sacrificing any of its elegant, even sporting style. It's also lighter, more aerodynamic and more efficient than ever, as well as offering some of the most advanced technology available to today's motorist.

Infiniti Q3 a modern sculpture in motion

By Ian Donaldson

HOW many people buy a car they think is ugly? Don't fret about the answer – it's close to a nice round zero.

We like to drive cars we like the look of, sometimes – especially – if other drivers think we've bought something hit with an ugly stick (I'm looking at you, Nissan Juke).

Now imagine if it was noticed not for its oddity but for a delicious mix of swoops and swerves that lend an air of modern sculpture in motion.

That would please the owner and, in the case of the car you see here make the manufacturer very happy indeed.

For Infiniti is on a mission. Not to go into brochure detail of the models it sells but simply to force themselves on to the radar of anyone looking to buy a new car.

Even with a £250 million investment in the plant to make the new Q30 (in Sunderland, alongside Nissans from the parent company) the Infiniti brand's sales in the UK remain vanishingly small.

For the moment, at any rate. The Q30 is the first of an upcoming range designed to take on the premium opposition, with names like Audi and BMW bandied about. Get it right and the sales will follow.

Smart

To say it looks the business is, to these eyes, a large understatement. I think it looks terrific, and stand-out smart in the optional (£670) liquid copper paint you see here.

More important, the navigator-in-chief, who knows nothing about Infiniti, thought so too.

The good news continues inside, where a tempting mix of soft leather, alloy look highlights and tasteful splashes of wood make this a stylish place to spend an hour or two.

Time during which, if you're a fully paid up petrol head, to spot that some bits (switches, dash display) look as though they've come from a Mercedes-Benz.

Which they have; Nissan (so Infiniti too) has a deal with the German giant, which takes smaller diesel engines in return for... bigger ones and some other parts. Even the platform the Q30 is built on was donated from the Mercedes A-Class, which you may feel is no bad thing.

Territory

It must help keep costs down, which on the Q30 start at £20,550 for a car with a 1.6 litre petrol engine and top out at £31,930 for a 2.0 litre petrol auto with all-wheel drive. It puts the car firmly into Audi A4 and BMW 3 Series territory.

The £31,180 test car, only one notch from the top, costs £33,900 with the addition of some extras – notably £1,400 for a mildly old fashioned looking satellite navigation system, a £650 Bose sound system (superb) and the already mentioned look-at-me paint job.

Also slightly old fashioned is the 2.2 litre diesel engine donated by Mercedes. It was always a grumbly old thing and only sinks into the background here when nicely warmed through.

Still, on smooth roads and at a steady pace the Q30 is superbly refined. It is also a fine crusher of Britain's worst road bumps, making for an engaging car when there are passengers to move about.

Not quite so much fun at the wheel, although a smooth approach brings benefits in ways other than fellow occupants remarking on the comfortable way they've just covered 100 miles.

A dash readout of 49mpg isn't too shabby for a car that needs make no excuses when parked next to an Audi, BMW, Mercedes or Jaguar.

None of which looks so smart either.

Stacks up nicely on paper and on road

By Ian Donaldson

IF you look at the figures that estate cars boast about it's not hard to spot who takes top spot in the sales charts.

Among smaller estates (that's a relative term these days) the Skoda Octavia rules the roost, topping the Ford Focus and Vauxhall Astra. And with their rear seats fold flat, that's the same order they make when load space is measured.

If style matters, then practicality matters more when you've a family and all their stuff to move around, it seems.

Still, you'd never call the latest Astra estate – or Sports Tourer in Vauxhall speak – a noticeably small car. It measures only a little more on the outside than before but that brings more headroom for front seat passengers, extra legroom in the rear and a usefully bigger boot.

Clever design (a lighter car needs smaller brakes and wheels, for instance) brings benefit in economy and emissions, helped too by this Sports Tourer being the most streamlined estate ever from the griffin brand.

This latest Astra Sports Tourer (built, like the hatch at Ellesmere Port in Cheshire) has a range of engines that mix better economy (and less weight) and emissions than before, with the 110 horsepower diesel achieving 83mpg in official tests and a modest 89g/km from the tailpipe into the bargain.

Higher up the food chain we reach Vauxhall's newish Bi-Turbo diesels, all with 1.6 litres and up to 160 horsepower, enough for 137mph top speed and acceleration near identical to the bigger 2.0 litre engine it displaces.

Confidence

So, the new Sports Tourer is bigger inside and more economical than before. That ought to give Vauxhall confidence as it sets out to topple the upstart Skoda in the sales chart.

But perhaps the biggest weapon of all is a range that costs less than before; in one case (the posh Elite) there's a £1,870 saving.

Of course, list prices at the part of the market where Vauxhall operates are only a starting point as fleet manager start their negotiations, but they can now begin from a lower base.

Prices start at £16,585 with the SRi and SRi Nav versions (£19,885 to £24,090) the likely most popular, taking 40 per cent of sales. There's good news on insurance too, with all the newcomers occupying a lower and cheaper slot.

Range highlights, says Vauxhall, include the 1.0-litre three-cylinder Turbo Start/Stop ecoFLEX model priced from £17,285.

With a five-speed automatic transmission, the same model achieves 97g/km CO2 emissions. That means no road tax – and a smug expression on the driver's face, no doubt.

The range-topping 200 horsepower petrol 1.6-litre is available in SRi trim priced from £21,725. Diesels includes the 1.6-litre Whisper Diesel with 105 horsepower (prices start at £18,785) that achieves 83.1mpg and CO2 emissions of 89g/km.

On some versions of the new Sports Tourer there is the option of adding OnStar which includes a live link to someone sitting in Luton who will assist with everything, from help after an accident to asking if you're OK should the car tell them an airbag has gone off, something it does automatically.

If the car seems to stack up nicely on paper (where, you suspect many decisions over choice will be made for this workhorse), there remains the question of how the car drives.

Well, it looks the business inside. Pretty businesslike too, with lots of black surfaces and a clean look to the dashboard, where the current trend (craze?) to eliminate buttons in favour of a big touchscreen has been restrained enough to keep things conveniently manageable.

No complaints either about the twin-turbo diesel, which was quiet at work and pulled strongly, helped along by a pleasantly precise gearchange.

A dash readout of 59mpg at journey's end will please both driver and fleet manager too.

A perfect package in executive class

Talk Tesla and almost immediately the conversation turns to all things technical, from computerised controls to battery charging.

But, technical tour de force that the Tesla is, all this techno talk (while interesting itself) is missing the point.

At prices from £58,000 the Model S is actually a genuine competitor for top of the range executive expresses such as the BMW 5 Series and Mercedes E-Class.

It just oozes quality, as one of the roomiest cars in this class – seating five adults in leather and alcantara comfort with not just one but TWO boots for their luggage.

It has the grip and stability of four wheel drive, and its initial acceleration will cause shock and awe even among Ferrari owners.

Yet it's road tax free, subject to the lowest rate of company car tax, and of course you never have to put fuel in it – just a couple of quid to put a couple of hundred miles of electrical charge in the batteries.

Credentials

It's an impressive car, whether you look at it terms of a head-turning premium saloon, the impact on your pocket or your green credentials.

It takes a day or two to get your head around it, of course. The first thing is the utter simplicity of the controls and the strange feeling you get the first couple of times you move off in complete silence.

Then there's the practical dimension – you do still need to plan your journey with an eye on charging points unless you want to suffer from the electrical vehicle driver phenomenon known as range anxiety.

I have to explain that having the car for just a few days is very different to owning one, in which case you'd also have a dedicated charging box installed at home, to keep the batteries topped up overnight.

You can use a standard 13amp domestic plug, but it's a bit of a long drawn out business – you get about 10 miles for every hour of charge.

Better to use one of the chargers at a motorway services or supermarket – there are thousands and more are being added every day which charge at a much higher rate.

In terms of cost, one company, for example, offers an electronic key card to access their chargers which is free for the first six months and under £8 per month there after.

Tesla itself has a network of 'superchargers' which will give up almost maximum range in 20 to 30 minutes.

These are strategically sited around the country to allow for long journeys all the way from Exeter in the south to Edinburgh.

All charging points are shown on an internet app called 'zap maps' which not only gives the exact location but also the type of charger and even whether it's in service or not.

On a cautionary note, not all are open to the public,

With only a few days of Tesla time, it wasn't practical to apply for a card from one or more of the public site owners, but instead I used zap maps to identify a fast charger at the Valley Hotel in Ironbridge, which cost £2 to plug in and charge the car while I was enjoying lunch inside.

The test car was a P85D, the numbers referring to the 85kw battery which, using the Birmingham supercharger, gave me 225 miles of range. Newer models are available with a 90kw battery, giving up to 340 miles.

The Tesla is a big car, and quite a heavy one, but particularly easy to drive: apart from the steering wheels, foot brake and accelerator the main control is the right hand stalk on the steering wheel which is the 'gear' stick with just forward, neutral and reverse positions. A button on the end engages 'park', eliminating the need for a conventional handbrake and so freeing up extra room between the seats.

In the centre of the dash are a few buttons – heated seats and climate control for example – but above that is the unique, full size computer screen which controls just about everything else on the car.

For example, you touch the screen to change from 'sport' to 'insane' mode: aptly named because if you floor the throttle from a standing start you'll be passing 62mph in just 3.1 seconds.

The screen also doubles as a navigation system (supercharger locations are pre-programmed) or a for full internet service where you can google zap maps, or whatever you want. It also controls the charging system, the high quality audio, and telephone connectivity.

The computer system also means your car can receive upgrades and improvements without going anywhere near a dealership: they are just downloaded like a mobile phone app. An example is Tesla's 'Autopilot' system, one of the few optional extras on a car already so highly specified.

All Teslas have an adaptive cruise control – a common feature on premium cars – which controls your speed and, using radar, maintains your distance from the vehicle in front.

But Autopilot goes much further and actually takes over the steering, using a series of cameras around the car to keep you in the centre of your lane. If you want to overtake, just flick the right hand indicator and the car moves over to the right hand lane.

Stable

It is really for motorway use (where there are white lines on both sides) and, for safety's sake, you still have to have your hands loosely on the wheel – if you don't the system switches off with a visible and audio warning.

Four wheel drive and the fact that most of the car's weight (batteries and engine) are close to the ground make it extremely stable. The car feels slighlty heavy to drive, but is still surprisingly agile.

There's a little rumble from the tyres over some surfaces and some wind noise at speed but so little you probably wouldn't notice it if your were driving an infernal combustion engine.

While the Tesla is probably the world's most advanced car, it hasn't sacrificed some traditions when it comes to the sort of comforts drivers of premium cars expected.

The smooth, quite progress, the spacious cabin and the high quality leather, alcantara and chrome are very gentleman's club, with the rather more contemporary carbon fibre additions bringing the mood bang up to date.

It's this combination which makes the Tesla an appealing car: initially a little cynical I came to like the car more and more as the days went by.

It is luxurious, with more room in the back than almost anything short of a Skoda Superb or a stretch limo, it could show a 911 a clean pair of heels and yet its tax-efficiency is about as good as it gets and its fuel (energy) costs are amazingly low, and with a longer range than any other electric vehicle.

It may take you some time to get your head around the Tesla experience, but it is a long way along the road to personal transport of the future.

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.

Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

STAFFORDSHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL
ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 (AS AMENDED)
ROAD TRAFFIC (TEMPORARY RESTRICTIONS) ACT 1991
PARK GATE ROAD, CANNOCK
DIVERSION OF VEHICULAR TRAFFIC

NOTICE is hereby given that the Staffordshire County Council, on 5th April 2016, made an Order the effect of which is to prohibit any vehicle from proceeding in that length of Park Gate Road, Cannock between its junctions with Bradwell Lane and Baden Powell Close unless the vehicle is being used in connection with the works; or unless the vehicle requires access to premises on the length of road or is being used for police, fire brigade or ambulance purposes. Pedestrian access will be maintained.

The preferred alternative route for traffic will be available via Gilwell Road, Holly Hill Road and vice versa.

The Order will come into operation on 11th April 2016, and the said works will commence on or as near as practicable to that date. It is anticipated that the works will be completed by 23rd May 2016.

The Order will remain in force for a period of 18 months or until the gas main renewal works, which it is proposed to carry out on or near the road, have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

ROAD TRAFFIC (TEMPORARY RESTRICTIONS) ACT 1991
JOHN STREET/WIMBLEBURY ROAD, WIMBLEBURY
DIVERSION OF VEHICULAR TRAFFIC

NOTICE is hereby given that the Staffordshire County Council intend, not less than seven days from the date of this Notice, to make an Order the effect of which will be to prohibit any vehicle from proceeding in the lengths of John Street and Wimblebury Road, Wimblebury between their junctions with Keys Park Road and Claygate Road unless the vehicle is being used in connection with the works or is being used for police, fire brigade or ambulance purposes. Vehicular access to frontages will be available dependent on the works. Pedestrian access will be maintained.

The preferred alternative route for traffic will be available via Key Parks Road and Brickworks Road and vice versa.

The Order will come into operation on 25th April 2016, and the said works (taking place daily between the hours of 07.00 and 17.00) will commence on or as near as practicable to that date. It is anticipated that the works will be completed by 6th May 2016.

The Order will remain in force for a period of 18 months or until the carriageway resurfacing works, which it is proposed to carry out on or near the road, have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

Richard Davies is targeting a return to the top of the world rankings

Richard Davies lines up the target

Hours spent practising is paying off for Richard Davies

Richard has his eye on the Rio Paralympic games

A few moments to relax and pose for a picture

With a double target in sight Davies is fired up

STOURBRIDGE shooter Richard Davies is fully focused on regaining world No.1 status and securing a place in the Great Britain team for the Rio Paralympic games.

The 44-year-old is having a fine year so far and became the British disabled shooting champion, after scoring a record 632.6 at the British Airgun Championships in Surrey..

At the end of January, he won bronze at the IPC Shooting World Cup in Al Ain, United Arab Emirates, where more than 300 disabled shooters from 30 different countries took part.

Impress

Davies, who made his Paralympic debut at London 2012, is now looking impress Team GB selectors and once again make it to the top of the world rankings.

"I have just regained my British title and I'm off to Poland for a World Championship competition in April, and hopefully I can move up the rankings after that," he said.

"Then I have got another tournament in Hanover, Germany, which is the final one before the team selection for Rio."

Davies was a wheelchair rugby player for 14 years but gave up the sport after failing to make the squad for the Beijing Paralympics in 2008.

He then dedicated himself to training to become a shooter, and made his international bow at the IPC Shooting World Cup in Antalya, Turkey one year later. In 2011, he reached No.1 in the world rankings and then fulfilled his dream of competing in the Paralympics in 2012.

SPORTING FEATURE

By Joe Edwards

"I train for 52 hours every week, working a lot on my concentration and almost go into a meditative state"

He placed 16th in the R4 10-metre air rifle standing mixed SH2 event and admitted the pressure of being in front of a huge home crowd got to him.

"London was unbelievable, our normal spectator crowds are of around 200 people but in London there was about 2,500 people and I really felt the home pressure," he said.

"I really felt it that day, it affected my psyche. The home pressure got to me, and I didn't perform as well as I should have.

"I have never felt anything like it, but I have been around the world for a few years since and I feel like I'm ready for Rio. The nerves have been put to one side."

At the IPC Shooting World Cup back in January, Richard had to maintain total concentration in temperatures of more than 30 degrees and said shooting almost requires going into a 'meditative state'. Having good stability and keeping your heart rate calm is paramount in shooting," he said. "I train for 52 hours every week, working a lot on my concentration and almost go into a meditative state."

The SH2 classification is for competitors who are not able to support the weight of the firearm with their arms and therefore require a spring mounted stand to shoot.

The target consists of 10 concentric scoring rings, with the central ring worth 10 points and the outside ring worth one.

Decimal

In the 10m air rifle event, the whole target is 4.5 centimetres in diameter and the central ring is just half a millimetre across.

Each competitor takes 60 shots at the target in a set time period, and then the eight top scoring athletes go through to a 10-shot final.

The shots in the final are scored to one decimal place, with a top score of 10.9, and are added on to the qualification score to determine the winner.

Davies is currently fourth in the IPC official world rankings for the R4 10-metre air rifle standing mixed SH2 event.

With the competition for places fierce, Davies has Rio in his sights and does not have a definite plan in place for the next few years to come.

"I just need to concentrate everything on Rio at the moment, and then take it from there," he added.

"I could look at coaching in the future, or look at going to Tokyo but I am 100 per cent committed to Rio at this point."

Greenwood looking to be a big hit

Talented rider Ollie Greenwood, centre

Speedway

PROMISING speedway talent Ollie Greenwood is revving up for the new season – and hopes an impressive campaign will propel him back into Premier League reckoning.

The Cannock rider, a former British Under-19 champion, will line up for The Buxton Hitmen against Stoke Potters for the start of the National League season on April 9.

Greenwood, 20, hopes to help The Hitmen repeat the glory of the 2010 season when they achieved a unique treble of the League, Knockout Cup and National Trophy.

That, in turn, could lead to a Premier League return for Greenwood, who featured briefly as a reserve for the Somerset Rebels last season in speedway's second tier.

Greenwood said: "I'm really excited about the start of the new season and optimistic about both my chances and the team's.

Greenwood, who works in the surface mining industry, added: "For me, the Premier League is the ambition. I have had the chance to go full-time in the past but financially it wouldn't have been the right move to give up my job."

LATE GOAL SEES OFF FIGHTBACK

Curzon Ashton 3 Hednesford Town 2

A SECOND-HALF fightback proved in vain as a goal six minutes from time condemned the Pitmen to defeat in National League North.

Hednesford's first chance arrived in the 12th minute as Stephane Ngamvoulou drove forward before playing a one-two with Danny Glover but the midfielder swept his shot wide.

Back came the home side and two minutes later Cummins found himself through on Crane but the goalkeeper stood tall to block his effort before Brooke missed another good chance for Curzon. This saw manager Frank Sinclair make a switch, Adam Thomas coming off the bench to replace Francino Francis.

The Pitmen found the net in the 31st minute through Glover, but the striker was deemed to have fouled home goalkeeper Cameron Mason.

Doubled

Three minutes before half-time, Glover went close again. Jonathan Royle was fouled 25 yards out and Glover's dead-ball effort struck the post.

After a goalless first period, it took just three minutes for the home side to open the scoring when Jordan Wright fired home from the edge of the box.

Two minutes later, Curzon doubled their lead as Brooke chipped the advancing Crane.

It almost got worse for Town as Brooke burst through but his effort was saved by Crane with the rebound going over the bar.

The Pitmen found a way back into the game in the 69th minute as Paul Ennis spotted Mason off his line and from some 35 yards out sent a delightful chip over the goalkeeper.

Two minutes later Sinclair's side were level as Royle headed home from a Sean Williams corner for his first goal in Pitmen colours.

Curzon's winner came when Joe Guest buried his effort from just inside the box into the far corner of the net.

Hednesford Town: Crane, Digie, Trainer (Truelove 57), Bailey, Francis (Thomas 29), Royle, Ennis, Williams, Glover, Ngamvoulou, Payne (Cham 57). Subs not used: Ransome, Robinson.
Attendance: 329.

Rugby balls passed on to clubs

SIX hundred rugby balls have been distributed across Staffordshire in a bid to get more people playing the sport. The RFU has gifted 20,015 Gilbert rugby world cup balls to member clubs in recognition of last year's tournament.

Staffordshire has 29 member clubs so they will each receive 20 balls with the remaining 20 being retained for use by the county representative squads and county coaching society.

Distribution began at the Staffordshire Senior Clubs meeting, with Burntwood, Cannock and Lichfield among the first recipients.

"This is one way that we can reward our clubs and players at the heart of rugby, giving back to those that are championing the sport and opening up opportunities to get more people playing," Steve Grainger, RFU rugby development director, said.

Last weekend, a local derby at St Augustine's Field went Rugeley's way as they beat Barton 23-13. Luke Pagett scored a try, converted by Matt Boden, with three penalties and then a further try, converted, from Simon Flint. Rugeley 3rds lost 55-5 to Barton 2nds, while Rugeley u16s were victorious at Loughborough, 32-12.

Burntwood staved off relegation despite a 25-20 defeat at home to Newcastle (Staffs). Drop fears were banished at the Sportsway as Burntwood gained a losing bonus point, but Wednesbury's defeat means they will join Bloxwich in Midlands 4 North West next season.

Aza Dunet kicked two penalties and converted tries from Luke Rookyard and Sam Brennan. The first Xv entertain Tamworth this weekend. Burntwood 2nds won their merit table game, also at home to Newcastle, 17-10. The 2nds travel in the opposite direction for a merit table fixture.

Cannock came back from third-placed Ludlow with a 47-13 defeat, Jord Pincombe with two penalties and a converted try.

This weekend is skipper Jon Freeman's last home game. Newcastle are the visitors.

Scholars in a play-off spot again

Chasetown 2 Tividale 1

CHASETOWN moved back into the Evo-Stik One South play-off positions with a hard-fought 2-1 victory over rock-bottom Tividale.

Paul Sullivan fashioned the first chance for the hosts but put the ball just wide from eight yards.

Sullivan saw a shot blocked in a one-sided first half, before Henry Eze saw his header cleared off the line by Conor Price.

Tividale almost stunned the hosts before the half-hour mark.

Eze acrobatically bicycle-kicked the ball off the line as Tivi looked to break the deadlock from Sterling's effort.

Then, Demetri Brown was blocked by the onrushing John Bateman, who followed up with a double save to deny Chris Rabone and Chris Sterling.

Tight

The Scholars continued to have the lion's share of possession and took the lead in the 55th minute. Jed Davies curled in a free-kick and Eze rose at the far post to bullet home a header.

The floodgates opened and Nick Turton nipped in between a hesitant goalkeeper and defender to slide the ball into an empty net from a tight angle.

In the 70th minute, Tividale pulled one back against the run of play with substitute Matt Jukes on the scoresheet unmarked from close range.

Sullivan went close to a third Chasetown goal with a near-post flick as the Scholars tried to cement the points.

The Scholars continue their push for the play-offs with a trip to Lincolnshire to take on Spalding this Saturday, kick-off 3pm.

Chasetown: Bateman, Williams, Thompson, Slater, Eze, Dance, Mugisha (Edwards, 66), R Davies (Washbourne, HT), Hemagou (Turton, 54), Sullivan, J Davies. Subs not used: Adaggio, Pond.

Crowd goes Wilde as fighter Tim is European champ

A MIXED martial arts fighter from Cannock has been crowned European champion after winning at the latest Full Contact Contender event in Bolton.

Lightweight Tim Wilde, who trains at the Ultimate Training Centre in Wolverhampton Road in the town, defeated Scotsman Martin Delaney in a first round knockout.

Nicknamed 'The Experiment', Wilde improved his record to eight wins and one defeat.

Victorious, too, was fellow lightweight Tobias Reid, who also trains at UTC Staffs. He beat Frenchman Christopher Sengele by unanimous decision.

Both fighters were given great support as more than 150 fans travelled from the Cannock area.

Head coach at UTC Staffs Jon Roberts said: "Both fighters are constantly improving. Tim and Tobias stayed on weight and injury free in a very intense eight-week training camp."

Full Contact Contender promoter and organiser Adam Teh said: "Tobias and Tim are both fantastic fighters that are very entertaining to watch."

Penkridge hit back to reach final hat-trick

Cheadle Town 1 Penkridge 3
Leek Cup Semi-Final

PENKRIDGE made it to their third cup final of the season and so kept their dreams of an historic quadruple alive.

After falling behind in the first half, Penkridge came back to claim victory against a side playing two divisions above them.

Frankie Wynn grabbed two goals with skipper Alex Dodd completing the scoring.

Penkridge, who had already beaten two SCSL Premier Division sides to reach the last four, hosted the game at Wolgarston after Cheadle's home ground was declared unfit.

It was Cheadle who took the lead thanks to captain John Evans.

Two goals in five second-half minutes turned the game on its head.

First John Hodnett beat the offside trap and bore down on the keeper who made a great save to prevent his shot going in.

The ball fell back to Hodnett who fired towards goal but saw it blocked on the line. A defender who had managed to get back onto the line managed to keep the ball out but the ball fell to the feet of Wynn, who smashed the ball home from inside the six yard box.

Then Hodnett crafted out a cross from the right hand side, which Wynn applied the finishing touch to.

Skipper Dodd extended the lead on 79 minutes, driving home from the edge of the area. Penkridge also hit the woodwork twice.

The final will be played at Ball Haye Green on April 29.

Penkridge return to league duty on Saturday when they entertain Shenstone Pathfinder in a game that could well prove to be the SCSL Division 2 title decider.

Kick off is at 2.30pm at Wolgarston.

Dunkley does it as Hayes stretch run

Heath Hayes 2 Atherstone 1

Heath Hayes extended their unbeaten run to eight games with a 2-1 home win over Atherstone Town in Midland Football League Division One.

They took the lead on five minutes when skipper Jack Arrowsmith headed home Joe Pickering's well-flighted free-kick. Ten minutes later Dimitri Dunkley increased the lead with a drive from the edge of the box.

The Adders responded and it took some assured keeping from Mark Wiggin to keep them out before the break.

Atherstone struck five minutes from time through Rich Hammond.
